Jeff. Davis' Trial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 24, 1867.

Judge Underwood is in town, and to-day received a letter from Chief Justice Chase relative to the forthcoming trial of Jefferson Davis. He states that he will be present at the opening of the United States Court in Richmond in November, and that he will then pass upon any matter that may be brought up relative to the case. He says, however, that he will not remain in Richmond after the meeting of the United States Supreme Court in December. Judge Underwood states that he was requested to communicate the contents of the letter to Mr. Davis's Counsel, and to say that Davis's case could, if his Counsel desired it, be brought up at any time, without regard to the time at which his bail bond calls for his presence. The above information was communicated by Judge Underwood to Randolph Tucker, one of Davis's Counsel. The latter took a copy of it, but would give no reply until after he shall have consulted the counsel associated with him. The bond does not expire until the fourth Monday in November, and the court meets sooner. Even should Mr. Davis waive his right under the bond and agree to go to trial sooner, it is hardly possible that Judge Chase can preside through the whole trial.

Gen. Sherman's New Department.

On inquiry in official quarters it is ascertained that the District of Columbia and Maryland will form no part of the new military department which it has simply been proposed to create for General Sherman.

The Treasury Investigation.

The investigation into the situation in the Treasury Department has thus far been confined entirely to the books and accounts of the different Bureaus. The first witness to be examined will be Superintendant Clarke of the Printing Bureau. He has intimated, it is said, his unwillingness to testify, and the Committee intend to recommend, should he persist in his refusal, his suspension from office. The committee declare that they will not be deterred from a most searching investigation of the printing of the public money.

The Virginia Election.

Returns received here from nearly every portion of Virginia leave no doubt but what a majority of the registered voters have voted on the question of calling a State Convention, and that a majority of that number have decided in favor of the Convention in the mode prescribed by the reconstruction act. John Minor Botts, who was running for delegate on the conservative ticket, is certainly defeated.

The Assassination Committee.

General Butler's Special Committee to inquire into the assassination of Mr. Lincoln were to meet yesterday, but none of the members were present. Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania, is the only member in town, and he is engaged with the Retrenchment Committee at the Treasury Department. At the adjournment of the last session of Congress, each member of this committee was authorized to act as a sub-committee and take testimony. Several of the members have taken some testimony, which will be presented when the committee meets.

British Imprisonment of American Citizens.

Secretary Seward had a long interview with the President to-day, on matters of a public nature, especially those relating to the imprisonment of American citizens in Ireland. The correspondence regarding the same, which was interrupted by the death of Sir Frederick Bruce, has been resumed through the First Secretary of the British Legation. The Government has been informed that a new Minister from Great Britain will not be appointed at present.

Gen. Grant's Health.

General Grant is much better to-day, and was able to attend to his duties at the War Department, where he was visited by a large number of persons. He is suffering with a severe cold.

Settlement of Missouri.

Returns to the Land Office indicate the rapid settlement of Missouri. During September eighteen thousand acres of land were taken at the Ironton Land Office for actual settlement.

The Georgia Convention.

The President to-day referred to the Secretary of War ad interim for consideration and remark, the petition of citizens of Georgia mentioned in these dispatches in Wednesday morning's papers, in which complaint is made that General Pope in apportioning delegates for the convention gives undue advantage to the colored over the white race. General Grant returns the petition with his indorsement substantially that it seems to him that the allotments should be made by counties instead of Senatorial districts as directed by General Pope, but as the time for the election, 29th inst., is so near at hand, he cannot see how the matter can be remedied. But he has telegraphed to Gen. Pope asking if it is practicable to make the change sought, and whether it would not be better to fix representation by counties instead of Senatorial Districts. The reply of General Pope is not yet received. It is to be observed that Gen. Grant does not claim the power to direct the District Commanders, and therefore his communication is merely suggestive.

Consul Appointed.

The President has appointed Joseph H. Thomas, of Tennessee, consul to St. Thomas.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 24, 1867.

A REFRACTORY OFFICIAL TO BE SUSPENDED.

The Retrenchment Committee having refused to accept the report of S. M. Clarke, Chief of the Printing Bureau of the Treasury Department, in lieu of a regular examination of that Bureau, Clark has shown a disposition to interfere with the operations of the Committee. He is neither willing to submit his books and records for investigation nor give satisfactory anwers to questions put to him, and it is probable that in order to facilitate business, Clarke will be suspended by the Secretary of the Treasury, as it is learned the Committee have recommended it. The Committee began this morning the examination of the clerks who serve under Clarke.

THE ASSASSINATION COMMITTEE.

There will be no meeting of the Committee to inquire into the assassination of President Lincoln, until Butler's arrival, a fortnight hence.

THE ORDNANCE COMMITTEE

Was without a quorum to-day, only General Schenck and Senator Cameron being present. Senator Drake is expected to-night. It is not known whether General Logan will be present

MAILS TO GREAT BRITAIN.

The Postmaster General invites proposals for carrying mails to Great Britain under the new treaty. He expects to secure a trip every other day.

A MISTAKE.

There was an error in the telegram of yesterday in regard to the pardon of General Marmaduke. His pardon was recommended by the Attorney General, but the President has not signed it yet, nor is it known that he will do so.

THE CAPITOL BEING RENOVATED.

Carpenters, painters and upholsterers are busily engaged preparing the Capitol for the approaching session of Congress.

CONDITION OF NATIONAL BANKS.

The condition of Western National Banks, as shown by abstracts compiled from their quarterly reports received at the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, is up to the required standard, and this is also the case in regard to National Banks in all other sections of the country. The reserves specified by act of Congress have been met in all cases, while in some the average is considerably over the requirements of the law.

RETRENCHMENT COMMITTEE.

The Sub-Committee on Retrenchment, consisting of Senators Edmunds and Buckalew, and Representative Halsey, have requested the Secretary of the Treasury to be provided with a copy of all documents and reports heretofore submitted by any other committee, whether appointed by Congress or the Secretary of the Treasury. The papers asked for will be duly furnished.

THE ORDNANCE COMMITTEE.

The Joint Committee on Ordnance will not proceed to take testimony as to contracts, &c., until to-morrow, when several members now absent are expected to be in attendance. The subject of breech-loading arms will also engage their attention.

JEFF. DAVIS.

TRIAL TO COMMENCE NOV. 13th.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE TO PRESIDE

WASHINGTON, October 24.—The following important letter relative to the trial of Jeff. Davis settles the existing dispute as to whether Chief Justice Chase will preside:

"WASHINGTON, October 22, 1867.

DEAR JUDGE UNDERWOOD:—On reflection, I think it best that you advise the District Attorney, Mr. Chandler, that I will join you in holding court in Richmond on the 13th of November, if any important business is to be transacted. Mr. Chandler, I think, should notify the counsel for Jefferson Davis of this, in order that he may appear and take his trial, if he sees fit. As his bail was taken for his appearance on the fourth Wednesday of November, he is not, it is true, bound to appear earlier, but as it is not possible for me to be present except during the first week of the term commencing on the fourth Wednesday, because of the term of the Supreme Court commencing on the following Monday, it may be that Mr. Davis and his counsel will prefer the trial to take place at the earlier period. It is understood that they wish that the Chief Justice may be present.

"Yours, very truly,

"S. P. CHASE.

"To Hon. J. C. Underwood, District Judge."

A gentleman just returned from Loudon, Va., says this letter was yesterday handed by Judge Underwood to J. Randolph Tucker, one of the counsel of Davis. The latter took a copy of it, but can give no reply until after consultation with his associates.

SHERIDAN.

Enthusiastic Reception at Hartford.

HARTFORD, CONN., October 24.—The reception of General Sheridan to-day was one of the most magnificent ever seen in the State. The citizens generally joined in the welcome, and many stores and buildings were elegantly decorated. Major General Hawley and Daniel P. Tyler escorted General Sheridan from Providence. He was warmly greeted at the stations along the railroads. On arriving at the depot in this city Gen. Hawley made a welcoming speech. About fifteen hundred soldiers were in the procession, and were reviewed by Sheridan. The General was received everywhere in the city with the utmost enthusiasm.

At the Allyn House Governor Buckingham introduced him to the crowd in a brief speech. General Sheridan was received with wild cheers, and every expression of welcome. He said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I sincerely thank you for this very hearty reception. This is the first opportunity I have had for a long time of passing through New England, and I assure you every step I have made has been made with lively gratification that I have met with the sons of New England."

Gen. Sheridan then retired, and went to the State House to the reunion of the First Connecticut Cavalry, formerly in his command. He was there received with an earnest welcome, to which he responded by assuring them it seemed like old times again. He observed they were still bound together as when they moved on the rebels. He charged them to remain united and act as one man, until the skies were more clear. By so doing they would doubly deserve gratitude; first for having helped to save the nation from the enemy in the field, and second for helping to save it amid the perils of reconstruction.

After the parade a grand reception dinner was given Sheridan at the Allyn House. In the evening there was a torchlight procession by the Grand Army of the Republic, and a general illumination throughout the city. It was a grand affairs and the crowd was immense. Sheridan rode in the procession, and was enthusiastically cheered. After the procession he visited several private residences, and was serenaded. He will probably leave in the noon train to-morrow for Augusta, Me.

This placed the entire force of iron clads at the mercy of Lopez.

STATE CHRISTIAN CONVENTION

The Last Day's Proceedings.

BRIEF AND ELOQUENT SPEECHES.

Interesting Church Statistics.

Questions and Answers Upon Religious Subjects.

Interesting Outdoor Meeting on Fifth Street.

The Convention met at half-past nine o'clock and the first half hour was spent in devotional exercises, which were concluded by the congregation singing the hymn:

"We're waiting by the river,
We're watching on the shore."

MORNING SESSION.

The Chairman, Mr. Miller, spoke as follows: Dear Brethren and Friends—We have been gathered around the cross of Christ this morning like soldiers sitting around the throne of God. We shall continue in these services, feeling in our hearts that we are at the foot of the cross watching Jesus as the Savior who suffered for sinners, and may his spirit be felt by all in this Convention. Every moment we are in this assembly may we come nearer the throne of God. God grant that we may be able to work in the presence of the Master.

The speaker concluded by reading the Scripture lesson, which commenced as follows: "They that trust in the Lord are as Mount Zion which cannot be removed but abideth forever. As the mountains are about Jerusalem, so the Lord is around his people."

Rev. Mr. Critchlow, of New Brighton, made the opening prayer:

PRAYER OF MR. CRITCHLOW.

Our Father in Heaven! Give us peace in God, and preside over us this morning. Give wisdom to all who may address this assembly, and to all who may kneel in supplication at Thy throne. Grant that we may receive large measures of Thy holy Spirit. May the blessing of God be upon us in these services to-day; in all our deliberations may our hearts burn within us with the love of Jesus, and may we feel that He walks with us. May the prayers that have been made this morning be heard. We beseech Thee to hear these supplications which have been made, and may all these person's souls be set in the diadem which is to crown our Savior Lord of all. Hear us for Jesus's sake. Amen.

THE DISCUSSION.

The Convention then listened to the report of the Business Committee. The committee reported the following topic for discussion: The Church and Co-operative Associations; what are the relations, primary aim and primary object of Young Men's Christian Associations, their best method of operation, with instances of their adaptation and efficiency.

It was moved that the speeches be limited to five minutes each. This motion was approved.

SPEECH OF MR. MOODY.

Mr. Chairman: There are some persons, among them I remember some deacons, in the East, that say that the Young Men's Christian Associations, are taking all the Christian work work out of their hands, and they are honest in their convictions. It is true that the working members in these associations are usually most active in the churches. Where there are live men there are live churches. The most active men in these associations are usually the most active men in the churches, instead of their withholding their influence from the church their influence is more for the advancement of the church than it ever was before. I think the idea that they are opposed to or separated from the church is fast dying out. The Young Men's Christian Associations are not necessarily separated from the church, but they are a part of the church. In England the great mistake is that the Associations are separate from the church. They have no connection with the churches and the result is the Young Men's Christian Association has very little influence there. If we do not make this mistake I see no reason why the Associations in this country, will not succeed. Their object is to batter down the sectarian walls so that the different denominations can look each other in the face and bid each other God speed. The object of those Associations is not only to save men in this life but to save souls.

The ladies should also take part in the excursion it should be made a Christian Association, omitting the words "Young Men's." The presence of the ladies always has a tendency to make the meetings more orderly, and no parties would ever think of creating a disturbance when they were present, and then the singing is sweeter and more soul stirring when the voices of both sexes are heard. The ladies always make the exercises more interesting and profitable.

I believe the association has a tendency to bring the churches together, and spread the cause of religion, and this can be done by energetic united efforts on the part of the members. The quickest way to stir up the churches and get at work is to get one church actively interested. The quickest way to keep one sleepy member of a congregation awake is to set him watching another sleepy member.

The speaker here related a story of two sleepy boys who were kept awake in church in this manner. The object of these Young Men's Christian Associations was to stir up the churches. He stated that in his city which was divided up into over fifty districts forty were visited every thirty days and given tracts to instruct them in the principles of Christianity. Out of the thirty thousand children in the city there were nineteen thousand in the Sabbath Schools. By bringing the children to the work of scattering tracts and interesting them in the gospel thousands could be brought into the Sabbath Schools of the city of Pittsburgh. Persons could not put their hands in their pockets and by paying a hundred dollars say they had done their share of the great work to be performed. God wanted our individual efforts.

SPEECH OF REV. DR. BLAIR, OF ALTOONA.

Mr. Chairman: We have met here to-day for the third time, brought here under the influence of the Young Men's Christian Association. It has brought us here, and have we done anything towards sustaining the Church of God composed of all Christian denominations? In order to do this we must work, work and pray for the forgiveness of our sins and the sins of humanity. Does not the gospel of Jesus offer the Holy Spirit to us as individuals? It calls upon all men everywhere to repent. The gospel tells us that Jesus came to bless us and turn away every one from his sins. The Young Men's Christian Association has brought us to the great work of bringing the gospel home to every family, to every door in the land, and it strikes hard against the walls of sectarianism. When I was a young man I felt there was something wrong in the churches in their divided state, I saw how the system of theology grew larger and larger under such influences as this association exerts. The Young Men's Christian Association, has brought us to the grand point which leads us thorough the intricacies of theology, when properly managed as it is here, there is no harm in it, but on the contrary it is stirring up the hearts of men and leading them to accept the grand truths of Christianity.

SPEECH OF MR. SHEAF.

I desire to say, my Christian friends, our Young Men's Christian Association at Cincinnati, the past pear, have distributed thirteen thousand three hundred and thirty pages of tracks in the streets, lanes and alleys, and in the jails and poor houses of our State. We have distributed eight thousand four hundred newspapers in these various places. Some persons have joined the Association and co-operate with us, who one year ago were sinners of the deepest dye. They were converted, and to-day they stand shoulder by shoulder with us working for Jesus. We have a little card which indicates the duties of Christians, and it closes by directing the reader under all circumstances, in trouble, affliction or sickness to look to Jesus. Our streets have been flooded with these cards. The speaker related an instance where the sister of a young man who was a gambler had been converted by one of these cards, and made fruitless efforts to reclaim him. Although he had written her just before he died that he was going to reform.

I could tell you numbers of instances of this kind. There are a class which these Young Men's Christian Association reach. I allude to the young men who come from the country to engage in business in the city. We have many of them in our churches and our Sabbath schools, glorifying God and doing the work of our Master; many of them have stood up and said they were there in answer to their father's and mother's prayers.

At the prayer meetings of the Association, we all stand on a common platform. If there is a young man there who professes to love Christ, we invite him by our words to take part in the proceedings. Many of them frequently lead in prayer at the meetings of the Association, whose voices have never been lifted in the churches which they attend. In the prayer meeting room of the Young Men's Christian Association they are perfectly at home. If you have a young man in your church who is not a Christian, invite him to become a member of the Association. After the young men attend the prayer meetings, they can go out upon the by-ways and hedges, working for the elevation of humanity. We mean to interest them in trying to lift up the lowly and outcast. How many in all our cities are on the downward road to ruin. The saloons in Cincinnati are teeming with the brightest young men we have, and by the Grace of God we intent to visit the saloons and invite them and induce them to come to the prayer meetings, and by this means bring them to the Church of Christ.

ADDRESS OF DR. MARSHALL.

Mr. Chairman and Friends—When I saw this topic on your programme I was glad to read it, because in this topic I am much interested. I have been reading nearly all that has taken place in reference to these Associations since they were called into existence; I have sometimes feared that while they professed to be auxiliary to the Church of God they were churches in themselves. There are three different organizations in the world, the family, the church and the state. These are the grand influences that God has established in the earth. There are many influences that are auxiliary to, but if they come in improper conflict with those great powers I believe God will not bless them. I was glad to hear the brother make the remarks he did in reference to the operations of the Young Men's Christian Associations in this country. So long as it labors to bring souls to the Church of Christ it will have my hearty approval and support. I have been afraid that instead of bringing dying sinners to the churches they would set up seperate organizations. In the temperance organizations we succeeded for a while but other societies came in and took the matter into their hands. If these associations are devoted to the doctrines of Christ, they will have my sympathy and co-operation, and I bid them "God speed." They have great power, and if they are founded on right principles and will go hand and hand with the Church of God, they may be one of the most powerful influences to bring the world under the banner of the Son of God. If they stand outside and operate against us then their influence is death.

The congregation then united in singing the hymn commencing:

"Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian hope."

A note was read from a delegate requesting Dr. Howard, of this city, to speak on the last clause of the topic under discussion.

Rev. J. E. Carothers wished to ask a question before Dr. Howard commenced. He desired to know whether the system adopted by the Young Men's Christian Associations had ever been tried in rural districts, or whether it was confined to city districts. He requested Mr. Moody, of Chicago, to reply.

The Chairman announced that the question would be answered at half-past eleven o'clock.

Dr. Howard then spoke as follows:

ADDRESS OF DR. HOWARD.

Mr. Chairman—I must confess, sir, that I am a little surprised to be called upon thus unceremoniously and without preparation to speak to the audience on this subject. I am, sir, a better listener. I love to hear my brothers speak upon this subject, and would rather sit and listen than occupy your attention—especially as I am not well prepared. But this topic has attracted my attention, and from what I have heard since I have been in the church this morning it seems to me that the Christian Association is as it were upon trial, and I have a word to say in its favor, but will occupy as little time as possible.

In the first place allow me to refer you to two or three underlying principles that are suggested by this topic, of "The Church and Co-operative Associations." The church is a Divine institution as has been well said by Brother Marshall. It is an institution originated by God, and on account of this is, of course, infinitely above all human institutions, and therefore no human institution must be allowed to interfere with the church. God designed, as I understand it, that the church by His blessing and with the Holy Spirit working in the church should correct all the evils in the world. It is to convert the world: it is to remove everything that is hurtful and injurious from the world, and with God's blessing it will carry out this great work. But it may be asked what is the Church? In my humble opinion the Church is a very simple thing—very simple in its organization, but there are many things connected with the Church, and spoken of sometimes as a part of the Church, which do not essentially belong to it. We have Boards of Commission, Foreign Commissions and Boards of Publication. We have Theological Seminaries. These things do not really constitute a part of the Church. In the past the Church has stood without them and would stand without them to-day were they gone. The Church consists of all who profess religion, and of their children. It has instituted and ordained sacraments, and anything that interferes with that sacred institution that will cause a hindrance to the Divine institution which God has brought into being is injurious and ought to be carefully guarded against by every man, woman and child. The question of co-operative institutions comes up; in this class should be found the Young Men's Christian Association. So far as its work has been done in our country during the past year there has been no friction, no interference with the Divine institution of the church. It has been co-operative and its members have banded together, not to oppose the church of Christ but animated by a desire to advance the great principles of Christianity.

I wish to speak of these co-operative institutions, of their adaptation to the results of the time, and of their efficiency as managed. I want to give a very brief statement of my observation in regard to the work performed by these institutions in this city. I have observed with great interest the whole matter, and I can testify to you Mr. Chairman, and to every person in this house, that the efforts of these young men in this city have been in every sense wholesome and successful. They have distributed tracts and brought many young men to the house of God, and to the daily prayer meetings. I had a conversation this week with a young man who became interested in christianity through the influences of this Association, and I say emphatically, if what is being done in this city by the Christian Association is done, in the same way as in other cities, and if they continue to do this work here and elsewhere, then every ordained minister of our Lord Jesus Christ, and every church congregation in the whole land may lift up their united voices, and say "God speed these young men. You can easily imagine how there might come about things in connection with this association that we would all regard as dangerous. We must guard against this.

Here is the church of God, and here are the restrictions of God set as a guide upon the walls of Zion. When anything is suggested which we would regard as hurtful, say to the young men, let us look at that in all its bearings, and my word for it, if the Young Men's Christian Associations of the country are like Young Men's Christian Association of Pittsburgh—if composed of such material—my word for it, such caution will be respectfully received and promptly acted upon. It is my clear conviction that the Young Men's Christian Association has been a great blesssing to this city, and it may be of incalculable value to the church

The Church is a Divine institution; but, my friends, it has made mistakes—it makes mistakes continually. We need to stand by the cross of Christ and look up into the face of our Master. We have every reason to say with Paul, "What wil't Thou have me to do?" Let us endeavor to find out what the will of our Savior is. Let ministers, officers, and all members of the church be anxious to spread the cause of religion. Let us with earnest voices inquire, "O, Lord, what will Thou have me to do?" May God bless us in our efforts to further the cause of Christianity.

REMARKS OF MR. ZEIGLER.

Rev. Dr. Zeigler, of the Lutheran Missionary Institute, contended that the Young Men's Christian Associations were working for the good of the church, and thought they should receive the encouragement of all Christians. He was not fully acquainted with the operations of the system, but he had come to the city for the purpose of gaining knowledge, with a view of establishing such an association in the village in which the Theological Seminary with which he was connected was located. He had seen and heard enough to convince him that the system was such a system as was needed.

THE CONCLUDING PORTION OF THE DISCUSSION.

Dr. Bittinger said there were only two ways in which the Associations could get outside of the church. One was by allowing the opinion, that they were a distinct organization from the church, to gain ascendancy. Another way was by the difference of opinion existing between the young men and the more conservative members of the church, in accomplishing the same end. He thought the church should cultivate fellowship with the young men. The young men always did the largest share of the work, and they should be allowed to do it as the spirit of God moves them.

Z. K. Burnell said he was glad to hear such remarks from ministerial brethren. The reason young men had made mistakes was because the elder brethren had withheld counsel and advice. He knew that the Christian Association in Milwaukee was in sympathy with the church, the same as the Pittsburgh Association, and was accomplishing a good work among the vices of that city.

Two verses were then sung of the hymn commencing:

"In the cross of Christ I glory."

Rev. Mr. Andrews, of Ohio, thought there would be no danger of such societies as the Young Men's Association superceding the church. The church had the power to control them, and he was in favor of taking all co-operative societies in the embrace of the church that they might be made effectual.

Rev. Mr. Laughlin, of Ohio, said he had an appropriate passage of Scripture to read, and read a portion of the second chapter of John, commencing at the eighth verse. He also argued that the Church needed the co-operation of the young men, and contended that there was no conflict with the Church in Young Men's Associations.

Mr. Lewis said he had been waiting to hear what had been done in ministering to the Jewish population. He urged the Association to extend their labors to that class, and tendered his influence and his efforts in furthering whatever measures they might set on foot.

The discussion was concluded by the Rev. Mr. McClelland, after which the Rev. S. B. Barnitz, of Wheeling, offered up a fervent prayer.

STATISTICS OF THE CHURCHES OF PITTSBURGH AND VICINITY.

The President called the attention of the Convention to an error in the statistics of the churches of Pittsburgh and vicinity, as prepared by the Young Men's Christian Association, for the information of the Convention. The error occurred in the recapitulation, which we append below in its corrected form:

This report was made when Plymouth Congregation held its services in Academy of Music.

From the foregoing statistics we think the following facts will appear:

The total population of the district covered by these statistics is estimated to be 162,886, and upon this estimate the subsequent facts are based:

Total number of Protestant Churches	123
" " reported above	110
Total number of Roman Catholic Churches	17
Total number of Protestant population	120,516
Total number of Roman Catholic population (claimed)	42,350
Proportion of population Roman Catholics	26 ⅌ ct.
Average accommodations of each of these 110 Churches reported	594
Average attendance of each of the 110 Churches reported	325
Total accommodations of the 123 churches at average of 594	73,062
Total average attendance of the 123 churches at average of 325	39,975
Total population that cannot be accommodated in the 123 Protestant churches	89,804
Protestant population that cannot be accommodated in the Protestant churches	47,454
Number of Protestants who do not attend Church service	80,541
Number of Children supposed to be in the Public Schools	*32,000
Number of children in the Sabbath Schools	24,844
Number of children not in the Sabbath Schools	*7,156
Number of Licensed Liquor Houses	613
Number of Licensed Liquor Houses to one Church	5

*These do not include the very large number of children sent to private schools.

Are not these facts? Christians, do not the 49,454 Protestants who cannot find room in your churches, and the more than 7,156 children who are not in your Sabbath Schools, cry to you, and are they not dependent upon you for the Bread of life.

THE QUESTION DRAWER.

The Question Drawer was then opened, when the following were propounded:

First—"How can we best elicit the interest of the children in Christian enterprise?"

This was answered by Rev. H. Thane Miller, who contended that children should be instructed in the fundamental principles of Christianity at the earliest possible age, in a manner which would interest their sympathy. If this were done children would be secured to the church, and would grow up earnest workers.

Second—"How shall Christians gather young men—who come into the city as strangers—into good society and the Christian Church? What effect does the want of attention, on the part of our pastors, officers and private members of our churches have on strangers coming to the city, and especially on young men."

These questions were answered by Mr. Burnell.

Third—"Is not a constant revival of religion the privilege and the duty of the church?"

Answered by Mr. Moody, of Chicago.

Rev. Dr. Elliott, also made remarks on this question.

Fourth—"Where can be obtained a history of the Young Men's Christian Association, and its constitution and other documents acquainting us with its workings?"

Rev. H. Thane Miller, Chairman, stated that a cheap publication of this kind had been issued by the Christian Association of Cincinnati, and could be procured by addressing Rev. L. Sheaf, Superintendent of the Cincinnati Association.

Fifth and Sixth—"Bro. Moody: Does your knowledge of the labors of the Young Men's Christian Association among the Roman Catholics lead to the hope of success among them?" "Cannot such central organization of the Young Men's Christian Association, as the one in this city, do much to establish similar organizations in the surrounding smaller towns and villages? Have Young Men's Christian Associations been tried, and are they adapted to the work of Christ in rural districts and in country churches?"

Answered by Mr. Moody, of Chicago.

The hymn commencing

"Must Jesus bear the Cross alone," was then sung, and the congregation was dismissed with prayer by the Chairman, Mr. Miller.

The convention then adjourned until half past two o'clock.

Afternoon Session.

The Convention re-assembled at half-past two o'clock, and spent half an hour in devotional exercises. Requests were made for prayers in behalf of special cases, and the petitions were framed with special reference thereto. At the conclusions of these devotions, the Convention joined in singing,

"My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of Liberty,
Of thee I sing."

THE DISCUSSION.

The fifth topic of discussion was then announced by the President, as follows:

"The Church, Co-Operative Associations and our Country: what special demands do the vastness of our territory, our rapidly increasing population, and the character of the numerous immigrants, make upon all Christians and Christian organizations in this land."

A PARTING WORD FROM DR. BLAIR.

The discussion was to have been opened by Mr. McIntyre, of St. Louis, but he gave way to Dr. Blair, of Indiana, who had a few words to say before leaving the convention. He regarded the subject of "Our Country" as one of the most momentous. He alluded to the teeming thousands coming into this country, and expressed the belief that the safety and perpetuity of the nation depended upon the establishment of Christianity in the hearts of all the people. The country would endure only when the great mass of the people became fixed in Christ Jesus, the Rock of Ages.

MR. M'INTYRE'S ADDRESS.

Mr. McIntyre followed. He thought one of the leading duties of the Christian community was to look around for the careless and indifferent, and bring them into the church. In this city, according to the statistics furnished, many thousands of Protestants did not attend upon the ministrations of the gospel. Here was a great field for Christian effort. It was the duty of active Christians to look around, to look up, to give time and to give money. Not only Christian men but Christian women should engage in this work. He never passed through Pittsburgh without reflecting upon the grand results accomplished by the patriotic ladies of this city in behalf of their country. The same efforts in behalf of the cause of Christ would be productive of the grandest results. Men and women should join heart and hand in the work of gathering in the careless and unconcerned, and in doing so they must look upward, look around them, and make liberal contributions of both time and money.

IMPORTANCE OF PERSONAL EXERTIONS.

Rev. Mr. Hervey followed. He stated that, after many years experience in the ministry, he was prepared to say that, through personal exertions only could the machinery of the church be put into successful operation. Every Christian must work, and work earnestly, if the church was ever to "rise and shine" in her full glory.

ROMANISM AND GERMAN INFIDELITY.

Dr. Marshall was the next speaker. He alluded to the peculiarities of this country, among which were the vastness of its territory, and the glorious institutions of civil and religious liberty. The large immigration was an important element, and ought to be considered in discussing this question. Many thousands came to our shores under the influence of the Man of Sin, and other thousands came here imbued with the baleful spirit of German infidelity. These elements were alike antagonistic to civil and religious freedom, and it was the duty of the Christian Church to meet and combat the evil influences exerted by these classes.

THE POWER OF LOVE.

Mr. Moody followed. He thought that the church had been acting on the defensive long enough, and it was time now for her to wage an aggressive warfare. Active christians must go to the verge of hell to save sinners. They must visit the low places of the earth—the drinking saloons, the gambling rooms, and wherever the vile and the wicked are found. No one should say harsh things of the Roman Catholics or the Infidels, but constrain them through words of kindness and love. They must be met in the spirit of the blessed Master, and be convinced by his words. Christian workers should follow the plan of the politicians in political campaigns. They should go from block to block, distributing tracts, uttering prayers and appealing to the hearts and consciences of all who are not of the fold of Christ.

AMERICAN SABBATH BREAKING.

Mr. Burnell next spoke. He lived in a German ward in Milwaukee, and was surrounded by German infidelity and German Sabbath breaking. He thought that the Germans, who came here with the customs of their country deeply rooted, were more open and sincere in their demeanor than Americans. They opened their beer saloons and their pleasure gardens on Sunday because they had been educated to regard the day as one of recreation, but many Americans, who knew better, and felt that they were doing wrong, thronged these saloons and beer gardens on the Holy Sabbath. When the Christians of America stand up everywhere as manfully and consistently for Christ and his cause, as the Germans do in the cause of Infidelity, the Church will most assuredly triumph, and vice, superstition and ignorance will vanish before the blessed light of the Gospel of the Son of God.

REMARKS OF REV. S. B. BARNITZ.

Rev. S. B. Barnitz, of Wheeling, West Virginia, said that he felt somewhat like the late Dr. Alexander, who, on contemplating the vastness of our territory, remarked that he stood in an unlimited field for usefulness. Many thought it was hardly worth the trouble to talk to the friendless emigrants and other classes, about the love of the blessed Savior, but the command of God was to speak to the "dry bones," and in His name to bid them live. The work that is to be done in this land should be begun without delay, and every man should pant after the love of Christ, in order that his heart might be rightly fitted for it.

REMARKS OF REV. MR. ZEIZLER.

Rev. Mr. Zeizler said that in many localities were several organizations, all striving to do the work for which they were created, and to do it quite independent of each other. But one of the crying sins of the church was that there was not enough of co-operation between them. Scores of ministers and others could be spared to labor in other fields beside those in which they are now engaged. He hoped the day was not far distant when we should have no more of Lutheranism, Methodistism, Presbyterianism, Episcopalianism, etc., and when all sects would come together and work harmoniously for Christ.

A WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

Rev. Dr. Jacobus, of Pittsburgh, made some remarks concerning the usefulness of christian women in the work of Christ. He thought that they could do a great deal of good in rescuing the degraded of their own sex. They should visit the prisons and talk with their fellow sisters, and when the latter are released they could assist them to avoid the snares and temptations of the evil one. Dr. Jacobus read a paper containing the question as to what christian women can do now towards reclaiming these poor creatures.

President Miller requested Dr. Jacobus to offer a prayer at once concerning the object of his remarks, which the Doctor complied with.

Rev. Mr. Scovel read a suggestion on the profits of the organization of a society of christian women of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Moody said he did not know of any movement that could do so much good. In Chicago there was just such an organization being formed. The peculiar work which such a society would have to do belonged entirely to women—not to men. In London the Christian women were rescuing about one thousand fellow women every year. He urged the propriety and usefulness of such an organization. These societies were being organized all over the land. Pittsburgh should not be behind.

PRAYER FOR THE YOUNG MEN.

Rev. Mr. Scovel offered a resolution setting apart the second Sunday of November, and the evenings of the following week, as a special season of prayer to God on behalf of the Young Men's Christian Associations throughout the world. Carried.

Rev. Mr. Scovel moved that the minutes of the Convention be referred to the Permanent Secretary. Carried.

The convention then sung a verse of the hymn beginning

"We'll work till Jesus comes."

ANOTHER CONVENTION.

President Miller announced the forthcoming Christian Convention to be held at Columbus, Ohio.

SPECIAL REQUEST.

Mr. Moody read the requests of a Sabbath School Superintendent, that he may feel the deep importance of the responsibility resting upon him; of a widowed mother for the conversion of her son, and of a gentleman for the conversion of one in the congregation, who was struggling for the forgiveness of God. Mr. Moody invited the convention to unite with him in addressing the throne of Divine Grace in behalf of these subjects.

A RESOLUTION OF THANKS.

President McClintock, of the Young Men's Christian Association offered the following resolution of thanks:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention be tendered to the editors and reporters of the public press for their successful efforts in giving to the public full and complete reports of all the discussions and proceedings of our session; to the Pennsylvania Central (with connections), Allegheny Valley, Pittsburgh and Connellsville, Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati railways, and the Monongahela steamboats for free returns to delegates; to the Western Union Telegraph Company; Mr. David, Superintendent; Mr. Snowden, Agent of the Associated Press, for free use of telegraph wires; to C. C. Mellor, for use of Cabinet Organ; to the Trustees of the First Presbyterian Church, for use of the building; to the Ministry and Young Men's Christian Association of Pittsburgh for calling the Convention, and to the Christian families of this city, Allegheny, &c., for the hospitable entertainment of delegates.

The resolution was adopted.

REMARKS OF REV. MR. SCOVEL.

Rev. Mr. Scovel said that as one of the ministers of this city he could speak only words of unfeigned joy for meeting his Christian brethren from distant localities; for the character of the proceedings, and great influence for good which must follow as the result of this convention. The yearning of his heart was that God would greatly bless all that has been done, and that when they separated they would go away determined to live nearer to God, and bear His cross, and labor for Him faithfully. It was a blessed thing to begin thus early this winter, and he would give God all the glory for results. He hoped God's grace would go with the delegates to their homes, speak through them, and help them all forward toward the blessed land of rest.

REMARKS OF PRESIDENT MILLER.

President Miller said the hour for final adjournment had arrived. He hoped that every one would go to his respective field of labor resolved to love God more and serve him better; to tell the host in rebellion against God that He has offered to them Peace, and all the blessings that rest from it. Great responsibility rested upon every professor of Christ. Would all engaged in the dear Savior's work? would all unite to spread the blessed word of life before the sinner, and lead them to Christ who waits to save? He wanted all to pray over one thing that he would say to them before they separated, and that was, LIVE NEAR TO GOD; and he hoped that at last He might take all to Himself, and say to each one, "Well done good and faithful servants."

THE CLOSING HYMN.

The congregation then sung the beautiful hymn beginning,

"Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love."

The whole audience joined hands during the singing.

THE FINALE.

The Rev. Mr. Scovel then offered prayer, pronounced the benediction, and the convention adjourned sine die.

A STREET MEETING.

Immediately after the adjournment of the convention an open air meeting was organized in front of the postoffice, and was addressed by Messrs. Burnell, Moody and others. Several hymns were sung, and the scene was novel, attractive and impressive.

The villain is undetected.

CITY MATTERS.

A PLEASANT OCCASION.—By invitation of Mr. Holtzheimer, of the "Continental Saloon," Fifth street, a large party of his friends, consisting of members of the press and others, assembled last evening at his place of business, and joined with him in celebrating his twenty-fifth birthday. The Great Western Band was present, and their excellent music was a marked feature of the ocoasion. After partaking of a magnificent supper, a number of speeches were made, and the entire affair passed off with great eclat.

THE ALLEGHENY FIRE.—The engineer employed at Mr. Joseph Logan's barrel factory, in Allegheny, which was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night, called upon us yesterday and stated that the fire did not originate from hot cinders from the engine, and could not have so occurred. He says that he extinguished the fire in the furnace at half-past five o'clock, and went home at six o'clock. He returned at seven o'clock and was engaged in packing the engine until eight o'clock, when an examination was made and no fire was discovered about the building. The fire commenced a distance of twelve feet from the furnace, which precludes all possibility of it having caught there. Two men were seen running away from the direction of the building a few minutes before the fire was discovered, and it is supposed they set fire to it. The report that a safe in the office had been broken open and a large amount of money taken from it, was incorrect, as there was neither safe nor money in the office at the time of the fire.

Mr. Purcell and his Niece.

Statements having been made in several of the daily papers of this city, as to whether Miss Annie Purcell is or is not the niece of Mr. Lawrence Purcell, we are requested to state that Miss Annie Purcell has a godfather and mother residing on Quarry street, Fifth ward, above the Union Depot, and at the same house she has two cousins boarding, viz: Wm. Shannahan and brother, who can establish the fact of the relationship. Reference can also be had from the parish priest, Dumband, Tipperary county, Ireland, where both Mr. Purcell and his niece hail from.

A Case of Accidental Drowning.

Coroner Clawson was called upon yesterday afternoon to hold an inquest on the body of James Snodgrass, a resident of the Fifth ward, Allegheny, who was drowned on the previous night while crossing the Ohio river from Temperanceville in a skiff. From the evidence adduced before the jury it appears that deceased, in company with a friend, started across the river in a skiff and upon arriving at the middle of the stream the boat sprung a leak and filled rapidly with water. Snodgrass jumped from his seat, and in his endeavors to gain the bow overturned the skiff. He immediately struck out for the Allegheny shore, but after going a short distance his clothing became saturated with water and he sank. His companion took hold of the boat and succeeded in reaching the shore. Snodgrass's body was recovered about noon yesterday by Mr. Robert Lighthill and placed on the ferry boat, Capt. W. C. Denny. The jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the above facts. Deceased was thirty-five years of age and leaves a wife and four children.

Base Ball.

CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH—THE SENECA BEATS THE ENTERPRISE.

The first of the series of three games for the Base Ball championship of Western Pennsylvania, between the Enterprise Club, of this city, the present champions, and the Seneca Club, of Oil City, took place yesterday afternoon, at the Union Park, Allegheny City. The Seneca Club arrived in the city yesterday morning, and were cordially greeted by the Enterprise boys. The fact that most of them were former Pittsburghers, made them no strangers here, and they lacked no friends in the contest. A large number of spectators assembled at the Park in the afternoon, to witness the contest, which was one of the most exciting that has ever taken place here. The game commenced at half past two o'clock, the Oil City boys going to the bat. Some fine playing was exhibited on both sides, and a good catch or run was loudly applauded by the spectators. The Seneca played eight innings and the Enterprise were on their eighth when the Umpire called game on account of the darkness. When game was called, the Enterprise had but one out and two men on bases. On counting the score it was ascertained that the Senecas were victorious, they making twenty-seven runs to the Enterprise's twenty-five. In justice to the Enterprise club, however, it should be stated that they had not their full first-nine in the field, being compelled to fill the places of those absent by four members from the Mutual Club and one from the Olympic. They will probably have their full nine in the next game, when they will give a better account of themselves.

MATCH GAME TO-DAY.

The Senecas will play a match game at Union Park, this afternoon at half-past two o'clock, with the Allegheny Club, of this city, one of the best clubs in Western Pennsylvania. The Allegheny Club have now in the field the best nine they ever had, and one of the most exciting and closely contested games may be expected this afternoon. The Seneca Club will return home to-morrow morning.

The Daily Commercial

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1867.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

LAST winter a step was taken in Congress toward securing cheap telegraphy in this country. A law was passed which, however proper or necessary, will amount to nothing unless it is followed up. Doubtless there are practical difficulties in the case, but great public benefits will be secured exceeding those resulting from cheap postage, by a uniform and cheap system of sending messages by telegraph. We hope it will be one of the measures that will receive the early attention of Congress.

THE Philadelphia Press gives the Tribune a hard hit, as follows:

> "The New York Nation prophecies a Republican defeat in November, and the Tribune, growing indignant at such a prediction, charges its neighbor with being "a seer of evil whose wish is father of the thought." If we remember aright the Tribune foretold a similar fortune for the Union men of Pennsylvania previous to their election, and its cheerful remarks on the prospect were paraded in every Democratic paper in this State, and by some of them used as standing matter during the campaign."

It may fairly be questioned if the Tribune had done its duty, or even kept silent, SHARSWOOD would not have been defeated. One thing is certain; what the Tribune's constant talk about the prospect in Pennsylvania was calculated to produce, defeated WILLIAMS—absenteeism on election day.

THE Boston Traveller says:

> "It will be seen by a notice in another column that our Charlestown neighbors have given legal notice of their intention to apply to the next Legislature for an act authorizing the union of Charlestown to Boston. Influential parties in Dorchester are also moving in the same direction, and in Chelsea there is a corresponding movement; and we look to see similar movements in all the immediate suburbs of Boston. The time cannot be far distant when the territory for six or seven miles around Boston will be legally one, as it now is really."

Acting on an intelligent view of their interests, the people of Boston and the immediate suburbs are seeking a closer union. The benefits to be derived from such a union are mutual. And so will it be here; for the union of Pittsburgh and all the suburbs is an event certain to take place, and that too, at no distant day. Such a union will be in accordance with a law of nature that cannot be resisted any more than gravitation. The union will come; and it would not surprise us if those who resist it now should be the foremost for it.

IT is worthy of being noticed as a phenomenon, that a Democratic journal should have anything of the nature of praise to award to a professed Republican. Yet such is the fact. The Cincinnati Enquirer has done it. It praises a political sentiment of General BUTLER, but, naturally enough, selects as the favored subject, the worst sentiment that ever General BUTLER has broached as a part of his political creed—the virtual repudiation of the national bonds. In attributing this to Mr. BUTLER, the Enquirer, perhaps, expects to give the doctrine some credit with Republicans. The trick, of suppressing the names of PENDLETON and VALLANDIGHAM, the original inventors of the discreditable sentiment, is to be reckoned an adroit stroke of policy. But neither the prominence given to Mr. BUTLER's name, in connection with the repudiation scheme, nor the suppression of the names of PENDLETON and VALLANDIGHAM will cheat any honest man into an acceptance of it. Some of the leading Democratic papers also spew it out of their mouths as vile and offensive.

ITALY AND IRELAND.

If there was such an institution as an anatomical dissecting room for minds, where the different passions, principles and motives could be laid open, as readily as the knife and the scalpel expose and distinguish the muscles, its operations would shed a flood of light on a great many subjects of human action and interest, and on none, perhaps, more than on political opinions. For example, suppose a certain class of minds to be laid upon the table for a scrutinizing dissection, what an intense curiosity must be enlisted when the investigation is directed to the specific design of discovering why that class of minds utter horror and sorrow at the uprising, for freedom, of people in Italy, while the language of ordinary admiration and praise is too feeble to express its approval of similar aspirations in Ireland.

The anomaly is a political puzzle. We do not propose to go into the dissection. We simply note the phenomena. GARIBALDI is loaded with epithets of odium and infamy, and is consigned to an unenviable destiny, in the most approved style of malediction; while, by the same class of minds, every successive organizer of an Irish Republic is applauded to the skies—until his wind-mill gets out of gear for want of money, or till with money he takes himself to unknown parts to attend to his own affairs. The case, we say, is anomalous, and the discovery of its cause would be an ample reward for the trouble of its dissection. GARIBALDI, whatever may be said against him, has shown himself to be earnestly and honestly for Italy, and he has done it in Italy. The organizer of an Irish Republic has yet to appear of whom as much can be said with truth. GARIBALDI and his patriots have not clamored for money. They have not spent money on red shirts nor on green jackets. They have not spouted on the liberation of Italy, with three thousand miles of ocean between them and their native land. But they have stood up for liberty on their own soil, and braved danger face to face.

Such are the facts. We speak of them only as facts. Why the feelings and speech of a class of minds in this country should, in relation to them, be so anomalous and inconsistent is the question of curiosity, that nothing but mental dissection can solve. The operation is not a difficult one, and every person can perform it for the satisfaction of his own curiosity.

MARRIAGE CONTRACTS.

The Times, referring to a case of breach of promise tried in a New York Court, speaks of the whole class of such trials as "amusing performances." It is easy to imagine that trials of almost any kind, but especially of this, may be so conducted as to afford amusement to spectators; that the embarrassment of witnesses may be turned to ridicule; that funny speeches may be made by counsel; that innuendoes may be rendered doubly diverting by double infusions of indelicacy, and that the pleasure derived from beholding torture may be abundantly served up. But in all this effort of the imagination, the taste of the spectators and their moral sense must be taken into account.

But the remarks of the Times are directed not to any particular mode of conducting such trials, but against all trials for breach of promise. And in this extent, they scarcely comport with the wholesome moral influence of a public journal. If the contract, for a breach of which suit is brought, related to the construction of a printing press, or the sale of a horse, there would be nothing essentially in the trial to be entitled amusing or improper. A promise or contract of marriage embraces far more important interests than these, and the violation of it may impose infinitely more damage.

That money can fully amend for the damage done, it is not necessary to maintain, any more than that the punishment of the incendiary makes amends for the conflagration of the house. The general principle of society and of law is, that contracts are to be kept according to their conditions, and a bond drawn up in form without a penalty, would be no credit to the scrivener that drew it. But in the matter of marriage promises, usually in this country made without legal formulas and without witnesses, there is a special propriety in securing them from violation by making the breach of them actionable in a suit for damages. Without noticing the common and "amusing" play of fancy, about healing broken hearts with a cataplasm of greenbacks, something is due to the sacred promise of marriage, and a verdict for damages is a warning to those who are disposed to trifle with it. It is of the nature of a penalty, and the abrogation of the liability would be an encouragement to heartless and unscrupulous libertines, to make promises that they never intended to fulfill. It is the tendency in this direction, of the remarks of the Times, that has been deemed deserving of animadversion and censure.

The Nicolson Pavement—How It Is to be Laid.

We have received from Mr. Moore, the efficient City Engineer, a copy of the specifications under which the Nicolson pavement is to be laid on Wood and Fifth streets. The contractor, Mr. Allen, has the lumber bought, and has made arrangements for the sawing at one of the mills in this city. The lumber was purchased in Cleveland, and if the railroad company will deliver it as fast as it is needed, Mr. Allen guarantees to put the work through with all possible speed. The following are the

SPECIFICATIONS.

1st. Preparation of Streets.—The streets to be rounded off as directed by City Engineer, with a gutter having a depth of eight inches and to have a coating of one foot of gravel, to be raked off smoothly, and to have no large stones near the surface.

2d. The Substructure—To consist of two thicknesses of good pine boards, well coated with hot liquid asphaltum on both sides. The bottom layer to be laid transversely and the top layer longitudinally with the street, so as to form a good, tight floor.

3d. The Upper Stratum—To consist of good pine blocks, six inches long with the grain of the wood, three inches thick, and from six to ten inches wide across the grain, with straight lined faces and right angles, to be laid the grain perpendicular in parallel row across the street, with strips between each row of blocks three inches wide, one inch thick and not over five feet long; and each strip to be nailed with four tenpenny nails, the bottom half of each block to be well coated with boiling hot asphaltum, by being dipped therein.

4th. The Filling—To consist of clean gravel, screened so as to vary from the size of a pea to five-eighths of an inch in diameter, together with asphaltum applied as follows: The gravel to be heated and put in very hot, and boiling hot asphaltum poured in and then wedged or rammed in with an iron bar just fitting the space, and driven down with a heavy rammer. The whole surface to be well coated with hot asphaltum.

5th. The Top Dressing—To be a layer of sand and finer gravel, to be spread over the entire surface to the depth of an inch and a half. All the material to be of the best kind and quality which the market affords, and subject to the inspection and approval of the City Engineer and Street Committee.

The Brooklyn Church Trouble.

The trial of Rev. Nathaniel West before Presbytery, was brought to a close in Brooklyn on Tuesday. There were no positive charges against Dr. West, further than a general statement of the belief of his congregation that he was not a minister exactly suited to their requirements. Dr. West did not specially urge his fitness for the pastorate, but charged that he had been unfairly and unkindly treated in the matter of his intended or attempted removal. After all had been said that could be on the subject, Presbytery dissolved the pastoral relation of Dr. West with the congregation of the Second Church, Brooklyn, and appointed one of their members to preach in the church next Sabbath and declare the pulpit vacant. Dr. West has intimated that he will appeal the matter to the General Assembly, passing by the Synod of the Church.

The Bankrupt Law.

All who contemplate availing themselves of the benefits of the Bankrupt Law must do so previous to March 2, 1868, as the fifty per cent. clause takes place on that day. There are only about one hundred and fifteen days left. All claims against a bankrupt who applies after next March will, as a matter of course, be proven. Section 33 of the law, in relation to the fifty per cent., is as follows: "And in all proceedings in bankruptcy, commenced after one year from the time this act shall go into operation, no discharge shall be granted to a debtor whose assets do not pay fifty per cent of the claims against his estate, unless the assent, in writing, of a majority in number and value of his creditors, who have proved their claims, is filed in the case, at or before the time of application for discharge."

Grant for President.

The Indiana, Pa., Messenger has run up the name of General Ulysses S. Grant, for President, and says:

> "In the days of the rebellion, when the hearts of loyal men were oppressed with fears and doubts be, backed by the stout hearts and strong arms of the Union armies, brought us out of the depths of despondency and fear. We trusted him then, and our confidence was not misplaced. We are not afraid to trust him now, that we are endeavoring to gather the fruits of that terrible struggle. With Grant at the head of the Union column, victory will surely perch upon our banners, and peace and quietude will once more dwell in our long distracted land."

WE do not fear General Grant in any emergency. So says the Cincinnati Enquirer. So said the rebel General Bragg at Mission Ridge; and half an hour after his army of seventy-five thousand men were beaten and fleeing in every direction.

The Temporal Power a Drag to Catholicity.

Archbishop Purcell, of Cincinnati, in a recent letter declared that he prefers the condition of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States to its condition in Italy, France, and Spain. There is reason to believe that Archbishop Purcell does not stand alone in this opinion. There is a growing conviction in the minds of intelligent Catholics in this and other countries that the union of Church and State is an incumbrance to true religious progress and development. Indeed, there are not wanting those who believe, apparently with good reason, that the grandest and noblest triumphs of the Catholic Church are reserved for the period when it shall be relieved from the entanglements of the temporal authority.

Resumption of Specie Payment

The money article of the New York Commercial, Wednesday evening, says: In some quarters the idea that the question of resuming specie payments may be prominently agitated, is gaining considerable influence. There can be no doubt that the Secretary of the Treasury, in his forthcoming report, will strongly urge this policy; and the rapid reduction of the short obligations of the Government will give his arguments a force with the public which they have hitherto lacked. It is by no means beyond reasonable supposition that this idea will acquire a force materially tending to check railroad investments.

POLITICAL.

The Newburyport (Mass.) Herald thinks Adams (Dem.) is growing stronger and Bullock (Rep.) weaker in eastern parts of the State, and that if things are going elsewhere as they are in Essex county there is a chance of Adams's election. If it knew that the P. L. L.'s were a unit for him, it would be sure of his election.

The Republicans who aspire to be Governor of Missouri next term are: Isaac H. Sturgeon and Henry T. Blow, of St. Louis; George W. Anderson, of Pike; Judges David Conditt and Wagner, of Lewis; Joseph W. McClurg, of Camden and General George R. Smith.

When intelligence of the Pennsylvania and Ohio elections reached Montgomery, Alabama, the old Irish news agent there ran along the streets with the morning papers, singing out, "Good news for the rebels! good news for the rebels! the best I have had since the thime they defeated the Yankees during the war!" and in Montgomery, as in all the other cities, the men who had been fighting against the Union were as exultant over the victories of the Copperheads of Ohio and Pennsylvania as if these victories had been effected by their own ballots.

A Baltimore letter says: I find that a considerable number of the Baltimore Republicans seriously mean to urge Ex-Senator Crosswell for the second place on the Presidential ticket. In my thinking, Judge Bond is a worthier man for high honor, but Mr. Cresswell belongs to political life and the Judge doesn't.

Says the Jackson, Illinois, Clarion, of the 16th: Out of sixty-one counties in the State, not exceeding from six to eight, including Hinds, responded to the call for a convention in this city, yesterday, in opposition to reconstruction. Whether the few delegates in attendance were appointed in every instance by primary meetings, we very much question.

The returns for fifty-six counties in Ohio give a majority of 27,013 against the suffrage amendment. It would seem that (supposing every Democrat who voted for Thurman cast a negative ballot on the amendment) that 18,895 Republicans were found opposing the suffrage extension either by voting No, or by not voting at all.

We notice that a paper, circulating in the South, and edited by an unreconstructed rebel, gives as premiums to subscribers, pictures of Jeff. Davis, Mrs. Jeff Davis, General R. E. Lee, J. Wilkes Booth, Andrew Johnson and Horace Greeley.

FROM NEW CASTLE, PA.

Borough Improvements—Water Privileges—New Market House and Halls—Private and Public Enterprise—Churches, &c.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.
NEW CASTLE, PA., October 17, 1867.

This thriving, wide-awake town, since midsummer, has made some very fine improvements, proving conclusively the good taste, wealth and enterprise of its inhabitants. A new iron bridge, a source of great satisfaction to the citizens, capable of bearing thirty tons, is just completed over the canal, at West Jefferson street, which is thoroughly New Castle, the castings being made only a few yards from the structure. It was built by Timothy B. White, of New Brighton, who is now repairing the bridge over the Shenango river, on Washington street, which suffered damage from a recent severe storm. Speaking of bridges, a new one, of iron, some distance above the old, is in contemplation, and will likely be completed the present year, on Plank Road street, across the Shenango, at a cost of $10,000.

Col. D. Wallace has just conveyed, in metallic two inch pipe, to the centre of town, a beautiful stream of pure soft water, from a never failing spring on White's hill, fifty-two feet above the level of the corporation. Eleven families have contracted to have a supply taken into their houses. The baptismal font of the Campbellite church is also to be furnished therefrom. When completed the expense will reach at least $5,000. A new market house, of brick, has just been erected by a company, on Mercer street, one hundred and thirty feet in length, sixty-five in width, and three stories high, with a hall above capable of seating fifteen hundred persons. It will be completed the present fall at a cost of $40,000, and combines the substantial with the beautiful.

The building for the First National Bank, in which the Phillips brothers hold the largest interest, is being erected of brick, with handsome stone front, on the corner of Mercer and Washington streets, at a cost of about $15,000, and will, when completed, be quite ornamental when taken with the elegant block adjoining it on Washington street. This three story block of brick, with modern style iron front, and French rolled plate glass windows, furnished by Young & Son, of your city, has just been completed by George V. Boyles, William B. Sutton, Capt. William McCandless, and John Bowers. Also, one apartment not yet completed, by B. H. Henderson, to be occupied by himself for mercantile purposes. The others are to be severally occupied by H. J. Horner, who opened the dry goods business on Wednesday last; John Bowers, clothing store; Mr. Marshall, confectioner, Mr. Taggart, shoe merchant, and Mr. Pearson, dealer in hats and caps. The entire expense of the block will be about $40,000.

Quite a number of private residences, combining more or less expense and taste, beside some manufacturing establishments, have been erected within the last three months. One by Gorley & Crawford, on Beaver and Bridge streets, is designed for the furnishing of dressed lumber, doors, blinds, sash, &c., and employs about thirty men. Also, one of the same description by Mayne & Glass. An agricultural implement manufactory is commenced, near the old bridge, and will be pushed rapidly to completion.

The Catholics have erected a very fine church of brick, on East Jefferson street, which is now being roofed, and is to be so far completed by the coming winter as to be open for service. Cost about $28,000.

The elegant Baptist Church which has been in course of erection during the last two years, approaches completion. The ornamental finish on the outside is very elaborate, but the inside is exceedingly chaste and beautiful. The architectural design is French Gothic. The spire is one hundred and eighty feet in height. It is a donation of the Phillips brothers to the followers of Alexander Campbell. The entire cost of the building, including the lot and contingent expenses, is estimated at $125,000.

Several of the most important streets have been newly paved, and are being cleared up, greatly to the satisfaction of pedestrians, as well as others. The town, for some months past, has been strongly suggestive of "confusion worse confounded," admonishing the ladies to adopt the American costume, if they would be saved from bankruptcy, by the destruction of long skirts. Journalism has here three representatives, which speaks well for the intelligence and liberality of this people; and it is also significant that the PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL has many patrons and admirers among them.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS.

Prosperity of the Order in Jefferson County—Ten New Lodges Within a Year.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.
BROOKVILLE, JEFFERSON COUNTY, October 22, 1867.

The temperance cause does not stop because of political eccentricities or business fluctuations. We organized the eleventh Lodge of Good Templars in this county last evening at Pleasant Hill, Knox township, making ten new lodges in Jefferson county in less than a year past. In no county of the State are the good results of the Order more apparent than in this portion, as in several of the towns and villages the bar-rooms and saloons have been entirely stopped. There is much weeping, wailing and swearing on the part of the school Satanic, and they declare that these Good Templars are knocking away the time-honored props and stays of the whisky party with relentless fury. The cause is equally prosperous all over the State and in adjoining States. Rev. Silas Ball, G. W. C. T., for the State of New York, informs us that during the past year three hundred new lodges have been formed, and 27,000 members added to the Order in the Empire State. I go from this county to Clarion where the Order is strong, and will soon be much stronger, as we have several new lodges to organize there.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Petit Journal of Paris has a daily circulation of over two hundred and fifty thousand copies. M. Marinoni has recently placed in the office of the Petit Journal four presses, each of which will print 600 impressions a minute, or a total of 144,000 per hour. The Paris Siecle, in speaking of this fact, states that the American presses, which up to this moment have been regarded as the perfection of mechanical ingenuity, are now surpassed by the invention of M. Marinoni.

Rev. John Selby Watson, in his new book on The Reasoning Power in Animals, gives as a reason why dogs howl on Sunday morning when they hear the church bells ringing, is because "they know there is no hunting for them on that day." This may be so with English dogs, but cannot apply to American, for the bells never ring when they go hunting, and they howl all the time on Sunday, bells or no bells.

While sinking a well in Fayette county, Iowa, Captain Appleton came upon the top branches of a buried forest, twelve feet below the surface. The trees were erect.

Overcoats to the knees; very tight pants, like those worn thirty years ago, and silk hats, with low crowns and broad brims; such are men's fashions for the coming season.

The Baton Rouge (La.) Comet states that the caterpillar has made its appearance in countless myriads, moving in solid phalanx over or through every obstacle, traversing alike green fields and dusty roads. Having stripped the cotton plant, says the Comet, and exhausted the resources which supplied it food in those quarters, it may be seen "webbed up" and preying in myriads upon such leaves of the forest and garden as can minister to its gormandizing sense.

The loss of life is greater in the United States than in Europe, and greater in our Southern than in our Northern States. France seems to rank first in Christendom for favorable conditions of longevity. In France, 60 per cent. survive the first period of life (up to 20), and 50 per cent. the second period (up to 60), while in South Carolina, not 38 per cent. survive the first, and 35 per cent. the second. Kentucky is worse than South Carolina.

Mr. Hutchinson, who is well known in connection with Directories of the Lower Provinces, has found a wonderful vein of silver in a mine of his, near Fredericton, New Brunswick, and has refused a million of dollars for the mine.

People from England visiting the Paris Exhibition are said to be accosted at the railway stations by lodging runners, who lead them to out-of-the-way places and rob them. There is a general warning published in the Paris papers for visitors to beware of these sharpers.

THE Norwegian automatic cooking apparatus is among the attractions at the Paris Exhibition. It is said that by this machine, meat and other food, after having been boiled for five minutes, may be cooked completely in three hours, without artificial heat of any kind. The apparatus consists of a box lined with non-conducting materials, and two tin cases, in which the food to be cooked is placed, boiled for five minutes over a gas or other stove, and then inserted in the box and hermetically shut in with a cover also lined with isolating substances. When the box is opened three hours afterwards the contents are found completely cooked, without any care or attention having been needed. The box may be moved about, carried by hand or otherwise, during the operation.

Queen Victoria has been lately described as dressed in black, the only particle of color being some white trimming in her bonnet. She could certainly not be considered handsome, but decidedly what an Englishman would call plain looking; yet intelligence, refinement, cultivation and gentleness were to be descried in her physiognomy. Her dark gray eyes betoken her strength of mind and its concomitants. Her stature is low and her form far from beautiful, yet withal she was dignified and prepossessing.

There is no foundation for the report circulated by the New York Mail, that John Russell Young has resigned his position as managing editor of the Tribune for the purpose of entering upon a journalistic enterprise of his own in Philadelphia.

—His Majesty, King Theodore of Abyssinia, is having some very flattering letters sent to him at the instigation of the English, who hope to secure the liberty of their unfortunate countrymen without the actual conflict of arms. Bishop Isaak has lately been dispatched to Abyssinia with a letter which commences thus: "We know, sire, the exalted prudence and love of justice which characterize your Majesty. We are delighted to recognize in your august person the true type of that Queen, eulogized in Holy Writ, who was transported with the wisdom of Solomon. Doubtless, the same blood flows in your Majesty's veins; the equity of Solomon animates you." This must be rather humiliating to English pride, and no doubt will tickle Theodore immensely. It looks as if he was master of the situation.

QUARTER SESSIONS—BEFORE JUDGE STOWE.

ACQUITTED.

The jury in the case of John C. Stewart, charged with burglariously entering the hardware store of James Godfrey, on Ohio street, Allegheny, yesterday morning returned into Court with a verdict of not guilty.

THE NINTH WARD BURGLARY.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. John Rosewell and John Wilkinson, indicted for burglary, which was called up on Wednesday, was placed upon trial. The prosecuting witness, Dickson Raney, alleged that one night a few weeks since the defendants burglariously entered his residence in the Ninth ward, and stole therefrom a pair of pantaloons, in the pockets of which was eight dollars in money. They were arrested a few days afterwards and held for trial. The jury returned a verdict of guilty as to both defendants. The prisoners were remanded to jail for sentence.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Ann McLaughlin and Bridget McGovern were placed upon trial on an indictment for aggravated assault and battery, Mrs. Christina Garvey being the prosecutrix. The parties resided in Lawrenceville at the time the alleged offense was committed, and the defendants were charged with having struck the prosecutrix over the head with a poker and otherwise abused her. The case occupied the attention of the Court during a greater part of the day, and has not yet been concluded. It will probably be submitted to the jury this morning.

COMMON PLEAS—BEFORE JUDGE MELLON.

Court assembled at the usual hour yesterday morning, when the following business was transacted:

The jury in the case of Patrick Lambe vs. Arther Ballou, reported on Wednesday, yesterday returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $55 06.

The case of David Linton vs. Joseph Myers, for trover and conversion, on trial at adjournment of court on Wednesday, was resumed yesterday. A verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $952 38.

John Bayer vs. August Weyman. An appeal from the judgment of Alderman Lynch. Verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of five dollars.

William Baldwin vs. Robert Henderson. Action for trover and conversion. The plaintiff gave the defendant a note of five hundred dollars and gave him as collateral security a bond of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company. The plaintiff paid the face of the note subsequently, and, it is alleged, the defendant refused to return the bond. After the trial had proceeded, the Court ordered a judgment and non-suit and the jury was discharged.

Wm. Shrader vs. School Directors of Elizabeth township. This is an action to recover three hundred dollars bounty, under the Act of Assembly, from the fund of the township. The case had not been concluded at adjournment of Court.

After the case had proceeded, the Court ordered a judgment of non-suit to be entered under the act of Assembly, and the jury was discharged.

John Lindsay and Nancy Lindsay, his wife, for the use of the said Mrs. Lindsay vs. Benjamin Morgan and Martha Morgan, his wife. Action to recover five hundred dollars damages for slander. The plaintiffs alleges that on the 27th of January last the defendants uttered certain false, scandalous and defamatory words concerning plaintiff, tending to blacken her character and bring her into contempt. The case has not yet been concluded.

On motion of Thomas M. Marshall, Esq., W. S. McCune and Joseph Forsythe, Esqs., were sworn and duly admitted to practice in the several Courts of the county.

BURNS' NURSERY CORDIAL.
The only Infant Remedy that contains no Opium.

Every mother in the land can now feel confident that there is a remedy for her suffering infant that is in no way injurious, but a positive benefit, as it softens the gums, abates inflammation and acts as a tonic upon the stomach and bowels. For infants suffering with diarrhœa, wind cholic, flatulency, restlessness and kindred complaints, it is a speedy and safe remedy; all other infant preparations contain opium and are not safe. METCALFE'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

Are fast becoming the standard medicine of the day. No family should be without them, as they are invaluable, having often prevented serious illness by their timely use.

METCALFE'S HONEY COUGH BALM soon cures the most violent Coughs and Colds. Being a powerful expectorant, it increases the secretions of the mouth and throat, and instantly relieves tightness of the chest, short and difficult breathing, etc.

METCALFE'S GREAT RHEUMATIC REMEDY is the most wonderful medicine ever brought before the public. A gentleman of this city, who had lost the use of his limbs, and had used crutches for over six months, has been completely cured by one bottle. Tell your afflicted friends to try it; it never fails.

Superstition of Players.

Dr. Bellows, in an interesting letter from Baden to the Liberal Christian, thus speaks of the superstitions of some of the frequenters of the gaming tables: The superstitions of the players are a singular exhibition of the credulity of those who have generally ceased to have any faith in God or man. No groveling worshiper of an imaginary toe nail of an imaginary saint, ever exceeded in superstition the mass of the men and women who sit at these tables, solemnly pricking holes in their card gospels, from which they read their guidance and through which they peep into the future fortunes which await them. Victims of absurd mysticisms and lucky numbers, and false inferences from the absurd law of averages, they go religiously on, trusting in their stars and tied to their dotage. One very pious gambler, who believes in our glorious liturgy, but not in preaching, hurries from his Sunday prayers to try his luck at roulette, upon the 24-10 (chapter and verse) of the text the minister announces. Another turns his Bible to see what psalm opens, or what page cuts, and hastens to try his luck under such blessed guidance. Now it is the nine which the divinities of the gamblers' table have consecrated, and the next day seven or twenty-three. If Maximilian is shot by seven men, on the 19th of June, seven and nineteen would be the secret talisman of the first gamester who heard the news, if he were not warned by the fate of the noble gambler in thrones, who staked his life and lost it upon the throw! Were there thirty-one words in Napoleon's letter to M. Rouher, offering him the diamond cross of the Legion of Honor, it would be ground enough for a bare-headed Frenchman here, who carries his velvet cap in his hand in rain or shine, to play all day on that number, confident of coming out winner by 11 o'clock in the evening, at which time the tables close! Failure to-day would do as little to cure the folly of such a hope as the empty results of ignorant and fanatical expectations. It is not the fruit of supersition, but the superstition itself, which is precious! Religion, even in its falsest forms, is more disinterested than the defamers of human nature suspect.

STATE ITEMS.

John Weldman, an old citizen of Lancaster, died in that city on Wednesday, in the eighty-third year of his age.

The official election returns of Luzerne county show a Republican gain of 1,233 on vote for Supreme Judge, over last year's vote for Governor. This great increase will make the claim of the Republicans of Luzerne good for the flag offered by the Republican State Central Committee.

A fire at the Germania Well, on the Hyde & Egbert Farm, Venango county, on Monday, caused a loss of $1,000. The Germania Well was struck about three years since, and just before the fire it was producing twelve barrels per day. Pumping will be re-commenced in the course of a week or ten days.

A man named Jacob Marchand, an itinerant book and patent medicine vender, died at the house of Mrs. Bowers, in Jacksonville, Westmoreland county, on Wednesday night last, from the effects of an overdose of chloroform. He had been drinking to excess for some time previous, and took the narcotic to quiet his nerves; but unfortunately, the dose was too large, and caused his death soon after, from violent convulsions.

The Orphans' Home at the South Mountain Springs, near Wormelsdorf, will be dedicated to its great work of Christian charity, on Tuesday, October 29, at 1 P. M. Addresses will be delivered by clerical and lay speakers.

On Thursday last, Porter M. Skinner and David Cowan, were out on the mountain, a few miles from Fannettsburg, Franklin county, looking after cattle, when they discovered three bears on one tree. The bears attempted to escape, and as the party had neither guns or dogs, were prevented from doing so by the free use of clubs and stones. One of the party then stood sentinel, while the other went some two miles for a gun. The first one shot at was wounded and fell to the ground, but not so badly hurt but that he was able to show fight. After a severe encounter, however, they succeeded in dispatching him with their clubs. The second one they shot dead, while the third one made his escape. The gentlemen were uninjured. This is altogether the tallest bear hunt of the season. Bears appear to be unusually plenty on the North Mountain this season.

OHIO NEWS.

The number of improvements completed or in progress the present year in New Philadelphia, exceeds those of any previous year in the history of the place. The mechanics and working men of the place have more than they can do.

A society for the advancement of the education of the freedmen have been organized among the colored people of Zanesville.

Several meetings have been held in New Lexington, Perry county, to take measures for making their town a point in the proposed Newark, Somerset and Straitsville Railroad, or to secure a connection with it by a branch road. A committee has been appointed to take further action.

The Toledo Blade has just put on a new dress, and presents a most inviting appearance. The Blade is now one of the most prosperous journals in the West.

The Lancaster Gazette estimates the wine product of Fairfield county this year at not less than 15,000 gallons. Hundreds of bushels of grapes have been shipped and sold beyond the limits of the county.

The Barnesville Enterprise says: Hon. J. S. Way has been commissioned Judge of the Second Sub-division of the Eighth Judicial District, composed of the counties of Belmont, Guernsey and Monroe. He was elected to fill a vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Hon. Wm. Kennon.

The Athens Messenger says that the Ohio Cashmere Company, with headquarters in Vinton county, has purchased within the last year $100,000 worth of Cashmere goats. The wool is worth $6 per pound. The animals are said to be very hardy, long lived and easily kept—feeding on weeds, briars and other coarse, cheap food. They can easily be crossed with the common goat, and the mixed bloods yield a fine article of wool. The pure bloods yield from five to six pounds.

LITERARY.

Mr. Frank Cowan, of Washington, son of Senator Cowan, is preparing for the press "A Dictionary of the Proverbs and Proverbial Phrases of the Enlish Language, including the Dialects Scottish, Irish, Yorkshire, American, &c." The proverbs will be illustrated from the works of English writers to the present time, and compared with those of other languages. The work will have numerous engravings, and a History of Proverbs will commence it. This is a comprehensive work, and Mr. Cowan brings to it a thorough knowledge of, and liking for, the subject.

It is said that one hundred thousand copies of the first number of the "Broadway" magazine were disposed of. After that no one need despair. It would be interesting to know how many of number two were sold.

The late Mr. George Daniel, of Canonburg, London, who was a great book collector, had one lot consisting of seventy-nine old ballads and broadsides, printed between the years 1559 and 1597. At his death these sold for seven hundred pounds; and Mr. Lilly, a London publisher, has brought them out, reprinted in a handsome volume, with an introductory chapter, giving a history of ballads. It is said that a gentleman, who is editing a collection of old Scotch ballads, has discovered that when the ballad of "Sir Patrick Spens" was published, there actually was a family named Spens living on the Fifeshire coast. Some clue to the identity of Sir Patrick has been obtained.

New York sends out this season over thirty lecturers for the delectation of the provinces.

Some of the popular weeklies in New York pay two dollars a column for accepted matter. That is encouraging. If a man were very industrious he might at that rate buy two pairs of pantaloons a year.

Julia Ward Howe, it is said, thinks of making her permanent home in New York.

Lippincott announces a new magazine. The initial number is to appear in January. It is to be devoted to literature, science and education. Shall it be called the "Delaware" or the "Schuylkill?"

The circulation of Harper's Magazine is now 115,000; that of the Weekly is from 85,000 to 90,000; and the Bazar, of which the first number is just out, is likely to attain an immense sale. It is exclusively devoted to the fashions, and is profusely illustrated. It is of the same size as the Weekly. The opening number contains upwards of sixty illustrations, in addition to an extra sheet of patterns.

Henry Ward Beecher is preparing two volumes of his "Sermons" for publication. They will be issued (in crown octavo) early next year.

How Surnames Originated.

A writer in Chamber's Journal says: With regard to surnames—which are simply the stereotypes of soubriquets or nicknames, clinging to a race instead of an individual—we are sure they were chosen for sense, and were fixed upon grown up men. There became such a multitude of Joans and Johns, as these little islands of ours—for we will confine ourselves to them—grew thick with people, and where moreover, there was communication beteen one clan and another, as conquerors landed and armies spread, it became a necessity to find some means of denoting which Joan and John was meant.

Out came the original, decisive and satisfactory system of naming after some personal beauty or disfigurement, evident to everybody who had eyes, and therefore perforce, the first to come to us. A man with crooked legs was Cruikshanks, and one with a hunch upon his back was Crump; and a man was notable for his Greathead, or his Tightfoot; or his Broadfoot; or he was Strong i' th' arm, or its inverse, Armstrong, or he was Pretty, Hansom, Bland, Blyth, Sterne, Strong, Sharp, Short, Large, Small, Little(whichof course was Petty),Hale; a Coward, a Slowman Smart or Quick.

Then to call people by the names of the countries whence they came was a sensible way of knowing them apart. The fact of this plan having been adopted furnishes us with a curious proof of the cosmopolitan ingredients of which our nation is composed. We may tell by it that there journeyed here a Fint, a Russ and a Pole; that people came who were jeered at as Frank, and French, Francis, and who hissed out Inglis in return; that France gave us also a Norman and a Le Breton, and men from Lisle and Lyons, and some from Gascony, called Gascoyne; folks sailed here also from Canton and from Spain; and there came a Savage and a Moor, and a Blackmore and a Blackman, and Redman, and Saracens, which is Sarsons now by wear, and so many people from Germany so closely tied to us, they are represented by Jarman, Allman, Aleman, D'Almaine, Holland, Fleming and Dutch.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

☞ METCALFE'S HONEY COUGH BALM is recommended by the first physicians in New York, when all other medicines fail, as a certain cure for Bronchitis, Sore Throat, and Coughs and Colds of long standing.

☞ HOLLAWAY'S PILLS—EPILEPSY OR FALLING SICKNESS.—As preventives from a recurrence or in establishing a permanent cure of these periodical fits, whether arising from a plethoric or enfeebled constitution, Holloway's Pills have been eminently successful in every instance. They not only purify but equalize the circulation of the vital fluids, stimulate the torpid action of the functions and invigorate the system. For apoplexy and rush of blood to the brain they are the only antidote. Sold by all Druggists.

☞ CAUTION.—We call attention to the fact that imitations of our fine ELECTRO-PLATE, consisting of Dinner, Dessert Tea Services, etc., are extensively produced by American manufacturers; also, that there are English imitations in market, both of inferior quality. These goods are offered for sale by many dealers, and are well calculated to deceive. Purchasers can only detect and avoid counterfeits by noting our trade-mark thus:

Trade Mark for Electro-Plate. GORHAM MFG CO Stamped on base of every article.

Our goods, which can be obtained from all responsible dealers, bear this stamp. They are heavily plated on the finest Albata or Nickel Silver, and we guarantee them in every respect superior to the best Sheffield plate. GORHAM MANUFACTURING CO., Silversmiths and Manufacturers of Fine Electro Plate, Providence, R. I. TCF

☞ SCIENTIFIC APPROVALS.

It is remarkable that all physicians agree for once in opinion that Hoff's Malt Extract Beverage of Health is highly serviceable, not only as an article of diet for convalescent patients, or in the case of patients with enfeebled vital powers, but likewise for diseases of the chest, the stomach, and the throat, for catarrh in all its different stages, or colds and horseness, and for consumption in its different stages.

The following letter addressed to Hoff's Malt Extract Depot, 542 Broadway, New York, will prove it:

From H. D. Blecken, M. D., Redwing, Minn.

I always shall honor the truth, and consider Hoff's Malt Extract Beverage of Health one of the most certain remedies that we have at present for DISEASE OF THE LUNGS.

The health of my medical friend, Dr. Caine, suffering from consumption, WITH SPASMODIC ASTHMA, has improved since using it.

Sold at Druggists and Grocers. Hoff's Malt Extract Depot, 542 Broadway, New York. FR. SPONHOLTZ, Sole Agent, at Graff & Reiter's, 215 Liberty street. Also C. F. BAUMAN, Allegheny City, and A. KOCH, Birmingham. eod

The cost of making them by this machine is from 93 cents to $1 10 per 1,000, according to the rates of wages. This we guarantee. YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

First Annual Meeting.

Reports of the President and Treasurer.

Interesting Addresses, Etc.

The anniversary exercises of the Young Men's Christian Association were held in the Wood street Presbyterian Church last evening. There was a large audience, and all present appeared to be highly interested in the proceedings.

Above the pulpit in large letters were the words "Entreat the Younger Men as Brethren."

The audience united in singing the hymn entitled "Coronation."

The audience then listened to the opening prayer by Rev. W. A. Bacon, City Missionary of Detroit.

PRAYER OF MR. BACON.

Our blessed Lord that heareth the cry of all that calleth upon Thee, we to-night, the young men of this great Iron City, would lift up our united cry to Thee our Father, and pray that Thou wilt come down and bless us in our cry, for we know that with Thee is all hope and power, and that Thou canst turn the hearts of the children of men away from evil. To-night we convene together at this Anniversary time to recount the goodness and mercy of God, and to tell of the benefits we have experienced along the way. To-night we come to ask Thee to send down that spirit that we may go forth another year gathering in the young men of our country; going after them to their various places of abode in order to bring them to Jesus. O, help us to-night, as thus we gather; help us to-night to call upon Thee, Jesus; help us to-night as we present this great cause before our friends. May the spirit of the Lord move every heart, and the love of Jesus be upon every soul.

And may we to-night lay up treasures in Heaven against all future time of need. Bless this people in the future as Thou hast blessed them in the past. Thou hast smiled upon them and granted them success in all their business operations, and showered blessings upon them, and now enable them to testify their gratitude to-night.

May God bless us, and the peace that passeth all understanding, and the love of the Father abide with us forevermore. Amen.

Rev. S. B. Barnett, of Wheeling, read the Scriptural lesson from the fifth and seventh chapters of the Gospel according to St. Matthews.

Mr. Alex. M. Riggs, Recording Secretary of the Association, then read the Treasurer's report, which was as follows:

TREASURER'S REPORT.

MR. PRESIDENT: The organization of the Young Men's Christian Association one year ago, and its subsequent management, have been attended with peculiar difficulties. The novelty of the enterprise to those actively engaged in it, and their almost total inexperience in the practical workings of such organizations, have given rise to difficulties only overcome by persevering energy and an abiding confidence in the worthiness and final success of the undertaking.

Not the least of these difficulties was the question meeting us at the very beginning. How shall we raise the funds necessary to carry out the objects and aims of the Association? Such an enterprise could not be carried on for a single day without money, and while we felt confident that, when the nature and workings of the Association were seen and fully understood, the people of Pittsburgh would cheerfully come forward to its support, yet they might, very naturally, object to contributing largely, until they would see what would come of the new movement.

We felt that we could only place the matter fully and fairly before them and rely on their generosity. At our first public meeting we asked for five thousand dollars to carry us through the first year and although the amount received (about $1,100) fell considerably short of this, we have to thank our friends for contributing at that time sufficient for the commencement of our work, by which we were encouraged to go on, trusting that by an economical use of those means, and the accomplishment of a work that would merit support, we should not fail to obtain all that was needful to carry us through the year.

One of the first and most important subjects claiming our attention was the procuring rooms suitable for the use of the Association. After long and fruitless search we were offered, through the liberality of Mr. Washington McClintock, the use of a room on the fourth floor of the building we now occupy, free of rent, until April first. At the same time we made arrangements with Mr. McClintock for the rooms we now occupy, which were in every respect the most desirable that could be obtained, at a rent of eighteen hundred dollars a year, a considerable reduction from the rate at which they had been rented, and at which they could then have been rented to other parties.

We took possession of these rooms in April, and immediately fitted them up as economically as was possible, consistently with our object of making them home-like and attractive to young men. The fitting up of these rooms, at a time of high prices for labor and all kinds of house-furnishing goods, was necessarily a large part (nearly one-fourth) of our expenses for the year.

Early in the history of the organization it was found that so large and important a work, demanded the entire time and attention of some one person, who should be paid a salary commensurate with the responsibility of the position and the high price of living. This is also a large item of our expenses; and if to these be added the furnishing of the reading room with suitable reading matter, the necessary printing, advertising and stationery, the expenses of our daily prayer meetings, of which at one time we had four, our rent, charities, and other current expenses; the variety and extent of the demands upon our treasury may be appreciated, and the reason shown for the necessity which existed on two several occasions for soliciting contributions from the people. Each time money for our immediate wants was generously supplied, but we stand to-night, at the end of our first year, with an indebtedness for rent for one quarter just ended, and for advertising, printing, &c., in connection with the Convention just closed, amounting to about eight hundred dollars, to meet which we have an empty treasury.

The following is a summary of money received and expended since our organization:

CASH RECEIPTS.

From Donations	$3,148 84
" Memberships	1,342 00
		$4,490 84

CASH EXPENDITURES.

For Rent	$530 00
" Fitting up rooms and furnishing reading matter	1,215 52
" Printing, advertising and stationery	342 87
" Lectures	465 15
" Expenses of prayer meetings	297 25
" Salaries of Superintendent, Assistant and Janitor	1,235 50
" Current expenses including charities	407 91	$4,494 20
Balance due the Treasury		$3 36

Our expenses would necessarily have been much larger, but for many generous donations from our friends, such as stoves, carpet, matting, papers and periodicals, etc., too numerous to mention particularly at this time.

It will be seen that we did not exaggerate our need. when we asked for five thousand dollars for the first year's expenses.

Some of the expenses of the past year will not occur again, but in their stead will come others. That there is a great and increasing work to be done by this Association is more and more apparent, month by month and day by day; and as the work increases so will the expense of carrying it on. What amount will be required for the opening year it is impossible to estimate exactly, but probably not less than six thousand dollars will be necessary to carry out the aims of the Association. The work accomplished will, to a great extent, be limited by the amount of money placed in our hands; but we can, and will pledge ourselves to use the means given us to the best of our ability, in performing the great Christian work laid out before us.

It has been thought best for the establishment of our Association upon a permanent basis of support that subscriptions be obtained for a stated sum, to be paid annually by each subscriber. By this means confidence in the future success of the Association will be felt, and its usefulness thereby increased; plans of labor and usefulness reaching into the future may be undertaken, without the paralysing dread of failure from want of money; and the necessity of frequent special appeals for contributions, annoying alike to the officers of the Association and the public, will be avoided.

These are a few of the manifest benefits which will result from this method of support. In carrying this plan into effect, we have already on our list eighty-eight annual subscribers, of whom seven agree to pay every year $100 each, six contribute $50 each, sixteen $25, three $20, ten $15, thirteen $10, and forty-one $5 each, making in all about $1,800 per annum. We hope to secure $5,000 to $6,000 on this plan, the benefits of which are so palpable that further comment is unnecessary.

In view of the difficulties overcome and the work accomplished during the past year, the encouragement of our friends, and the manifest guidance of our Heavenly Father, who has blessed us with so much of success, we certainly have abundant reason to thank God and take courage; believing that He who has began the great and good work will carry it on, to the honor and glory of His great name.

WM. B. EDWARDS, Treasurer.

MR. OLIVER MCCLINTOCK,
President of the Y. M. Christian Association.
Pittsburgh, October 24, 1867.

Oliver McClintock, Esq., President of the Association then read the following report:

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

Less than one year ago, a young man, out of the church and an enemy to Christ, but yet, feeling the need of the common bonds of sympathy and common motives for effort of a Young Men's Improvement Society, started the movement, which soon grew out of his hands, and, at length, resulted in the reorganization of the Young Men's Christian Association, and through it, by God's grace, in his own conversion into the light and strength of the Christian's hope and faith.

Ever since each step of our progress evinces the divine ordering, favor and guidance. In the first meeting, held for our introduction to the Christian public, God's spirit sent the shafts of conviction through the moral harness of two souls, drawn thither by curiosity.

NOON-DAY PRAYER MEETING.

Immediately after, a few young men with some of their pastors, impelled by the earnest desire for the salvation of their fellows, and the sense of their own spiritual needs, began the noon-day union of heart and petition at the Throne of Grace. While we were yet speaking, the blessing began to be poured out, in an answer that exceeded even the expectations of our strongest faith. The increasing attendance soon compelled its removal to the larger auditorium of the church, and although, in obedience to what seemed to us the divine beckoning, in the many earnest requests that came to us from different parts of the city, we inaugurated three other mid-day prayer meetings, with evident tokens of the divine favor and presence; yet the Fifth street meeting continued for weeks to fill even the galleries and aisles, with the multitude in daily supplication to the God of salvation.

Our cup, though full, could not contain all the blessing. Its overflowings went out into all the churches. First one, and then another was blessed by those strangely, and yet in this world inseparably united fruits of the Spirit's presence, the Christian's joyful words and prayers of faith and love, and the sinner's saving sorrow of repentance unto life. Hundreds stood up in confession of their master, and of the light and liberty of their Christian life. The extent of the work we know not, save that the aggregate of the reports of accessions to the various churches of Christ since that time has been upwards of twelve hundred—such as we trust will be saved through the faith of Christ.

And yet, as on the day of Pentecost, there were not wanting those who mocked; tongues of ridicule and scoffing, in the newspaper, in the parlor and on the street, derided the works as human and not divine. But, how manifestly this meeting seems God's work and not ours, and how confident and assured we at once are of the genuineness and reality of its spiritual fruits, and of its preciousness as a means of grace; when we think of its past history, of sweet communion and prayer among the Christians of every name, where Christ's love, Christ's cross, and the saving of souls, so filled all hearts and all mouths, as to have excluded even the appearance of division, or the springing of the smallest "root of bitterness;" of how much deeper and stronger than ever before is the feeling of the Christian brotherhood, and of common interest in the great work of building up Christ's Kingdom, which to-day binds together the different families of Christ's Church in Pittsburgh; of how much more earnest and appreciative of individual responsibility, Christians have become;—of the drunkards, who by God's Spirit have been lifted from the mire of the street and the brink of bodily and spiritual destruction, into the strength and health and holiness of a Christian manhood;—of the young brother, who, in a fit of anger, had years before left his home in Scotland, wandered to Pittsburgh, and there received the baptism of the Spirit, who now, in the joy of his new love and the sincerity of his new life, cheerfully gave up his business and left the scene of his spiritual birth, to tell, with his own lips, to mother, sisters and brothers beyond the sea, of the love of Christ, and the 'peace that passeth understanding;' And of the noble company of young men, who there, in a sense of their sinfulness and need of a Savior, gave their hearts and love to Christ, and are now a most earnest and faithful band of workers for Christ; who, in the labor of their churches and the Association, think no weariness or temperature too trying, no labor or sacrifice too exacting, to be undergone in His service. Eternity and the Judgment Day alone will reveal how many lives of love and faith have had their turning towards heaven dated in that "Sweet hour of prayer." With a regular attendance of about one hundred and fifty, its modest sign still invites the care-worn and busy of every class into its quiet retreat, to commune at mid-day of eternity and heaven, of Christ and salvation.

SATURDAY NIGHT PRAYER MEETING.

Another most precious outgrowth of this spirit of prayer and supplication in our membership has been the Saturday Night Young Men's Prayer Meeting, held in the Association Reading Rooms, which, with the blest ties of Christian love, has been knitting together, like David's and Jonathan's, the young Christian hearts of the churches; where many have sought the prayers of God's people, and first expressed their faith in the pardoning blood of Christ. Twin-born with this was the

SUNDAY AFTERNOON PRAYER MEETING,

Held in the Washington Street Lutheran Church, Allegheny, for those whose employments made attendance upon the noon-day prayer meeting impracticable. It was originated by some earnest Christian young ladies, with the special object of reaching the operatives of the cotton mills. Their request, that the Association should assume the responsibility and charge of the meetings, was cheerfully acceded to; the ladies undertaking, during the week, to visit the mills and extend invitations by card and conversation. At first, many came and seemed deeply interested, but a sense of contrast with the better dressed ladies, whose kind hearts had drawn them also there, and the consciousness of being, as a class, the objects of special missionary effort, soon kept away even the first attendants. And yet, notwithstanding our failure to reach this class, for whose lives of toil our hearts had longed and prayed for the possession of the Christian's hope and strength and consolation; God blessed this meeting in the conversion, we trust, of three, whose cases have come within our knowledge: in the deeper and more precious spiritual experience of those who sustained it, and in such a quickening of the spiritual life of the hospitable church in which we met, that, as their pastor told us, at their next communion twenty-two were received on profession of faith in Christ.

PRAYER MEETINGS IN FIRE ENGINE HALLS.

Immediately after the ending of this meeting, the same workers engaged in the conduct of another one, at the same hour, among the firemen. Their halls, with but few exceptions, have been cheerfully opened to us, and we have always gone away with a cordial request for an early return. And yet, although that faithful band met and prayed, through long months, with faith undimmed and zeal unchecked, by ridicule, or self-denial, or summer heat, it has seemed as if the blessing was to be confined to their own circle and inward life. But thanks be unto God! "who is the rewarder of them who diligently seek Him," the recent crowded attendance upon the meetings, with the quiet, but soul-stirring presence of the Holy Spirit, the frequent melting of hearts to tears, and one soul's earnest, anxious inquiry "what must I do to be saved," fill us with the hope, that God has great things in store for our Fire Department whose energies are ever ready, and lives often periled for the safety of our homes and property.

OUR MEMBERSHIP.

During this spiritual growth and activity, our secular interests and undertakings have prospered, although not in the same proportion. Our membership has increased to about six hundred. To meet their social and intellectual wants, we secured in April last we now occupy on Fifth street. These have been judiciously, but not extravagantly, fitted up, so as to make an attractive and cheerful place of evening resort. These are open day and evening, and free to all, and have been constantly filled, especially at night, by those who have appreciated and enjoyed their advantages. Their tables are covered with the leading periodicals and newspapers; but we need donations of pictures and ornaments, with which to add to these attractions. Over the entrance, and in strange contrast and rivalry with the score of other night-heralds, which, within a square upon Fifth street, almost jostle us in their shining, for theaters, billiard halls, gambling hells and drinking saloons, our bright lamp, with its illuminated invitations to all comers, stands out, night after night, as a beacon of safety to the restless, passion-driven throngs upon that thoroughfare of sin. Opening into the Reading Room is

THE ROOMS

OUR PARLOR,

With its excellent piano. These rooms afford facilities, which we expect very soon to employ in the inauguration of fortnightly sociables or reunions, for which we have already been tendered the services of the best amateur club of instrumental music in the city.

THE AMUSEMENT ROOM

Has proved a source of trouble to us. Its experience presented difficulties of management which, in our present condition and financial strength, we were unable to master; so that, at length, the doors have been closed by vote of the Association. It is contemplated to use the same rooms, in a few days, for

EVENING CLASSES,

Which are now forming, in vocal music, German and Applied Science.

The last named class is to unite with a similar one, from the Young Men's Episcopal Guild, in a series of lectures by Dr. Jilson, of the Western University.

PUBLIC LECTURES.

In fulfillment of a pledge, understood to have been made at our organization, the Board undertook, last winter, to have public lectures on scientific subjects. Although they elicited a very instructive and entertaining course, consisting of two lectures by Prof. Brewer, of Yale College, on Rocky Mountain Scenery; and two by Prof. Rockwell, of Yale College, on Coal and Coal Mining; yet, by reason of the unusual religious interest, which pervaded the churches, and other causes, the course proved unsuccessful.

RELIGIOUS STATISTICS OF PITTSBURGH.

A tabular statement of the numerical strength and other statistics, of the religious forces, in the proposed consolidated city, has recently been published by the Association, in time to be presented to the Christian Convention, whose recent sessions have gladdened and strengthened every Christian heart. Its preparation was undertaken, with the desire of arraying, in "stubborn facts," before the Christians of our so-called "City of Churches" the pressing needs for greater exertions and sacrifices in the cause of the Master. It has been completed through the exertions of our excellent Recording Secretary, assisted by Mr. Jno. R. Paxton, and several of our membership.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

In addition to our obligations for the generous donations of our friends, which will be expressed in the reports of the proper committees, our acknowledgments are, at this time, specially due to the pastors of the city, who have, on request, prepared sermons with special reference to the wants of young men, and in every way and with the warmest sympathy, have fostered our interests and seconded our efforts; to the secular and religious press, for their generous appreciation of the necessity and catholicity of our work, and to whom, next to the ministry, we owe much of our success and support, during the past year; to Rev. Alex. Clark, and the congregation of the Fifth street Methodist Church, for the use of their building by the Noon-day Prayer meeting, and to our Recording Secretary, Mr. A. B. Riggs, for his fidelity and devotion, which at the first prompted retirement from his profession to assume the Superintendency of our work; and with which he has ever since watched and labored for every interest of the Association. His resignation we have accepted with the deepest regret, and now follow his entrance upon a preparation for the Gospel ministry with earnest prayers for the divine favor and a large success in leading souls to Christ.

To-night we enter upon a new year, looking out upon widening and whitening harvest fields, and hearing increasing and more importunate calls for laborers and help, in the Christ-like mission of saving and healing.

Our gathering is not for ourselves, but for Christ. Our work is not a supplanting nor a substitute for the divine work of the Church. It is a preliminary and co-operative one, like that of pickets in advance of the army; like that of John the Baptist, the forerunner, crying, "Repent ye, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand."

As the ministry will bear witness, the Christian workers, in our undertakings, have not been diverted from, but made more earnest and effective in their duties to the church. We therefore implore those who have means to give us of their substance—those who have the spirit and the love of Christ, to give us of their labors. Join us and help us, as we go forward to-night: strong, for the future, in looking unto Christ as our Leader, and to the Spirit as our Helper; rejoicing over the past, in the words of Israel's song of triumph over Canaan—"We got not the land in possession by our own sword, neither did our own arm save us; but Thy right hand and Thine arm, and the light of thy countenance, because Thou hadst a favor unto us; the Lord of Hosts is with us, the God of Jacob is our refuge."

The audience then sang Hymn No. 17 of the collection prepared for the Convention, commencing, "Shall we Gather by the rivers."

TELEGRAM FROM GEO. H. STUART.

The President stated that he regretted to announce that George H. Stuart, of Philadelphia, who was expected to deliver the opening address, was unable to attend. The following telegram was then read.

"PHILADELPHIA, October 23.

"Oliver McClintock, President Young Men's Christian Association:

"I regret to state that I am detained by a severe cold, and cannot attend the anniversary meeting. May God baptize all with the spirit of renewed consecration. Read Ephesians iii: 16, to the end. GEORGE H. STUART."

The President said that in the absence of Mr. Stuart he would introduce Rev. A. R. Burnell, who would deliver the opening address.

ADDRESS OF MR. BURNELL.

Mr. President and six hundred young men of the Pittsburgh Christian Association, and brothers and sisters of this vast audience: I rejoice that I can stand upon this platform, and extend to this vast audience, and these six hundred men of the Iron City, whose hearts are filled with the love of the Son of God, this anniversary of the Young Men's Association of Pitteburgh, is an occasion which should inspire any one who might stand before you to say a few words in vindication of the truths of Jesus. I regret that our brother of the Keystone State can not stand here and inspire us with the devotion of a great and true spirit.

I feel to-night that there is a great work to be done, and that these six hundred young men are to carry it out in this Iron City. There are in your city six hundred and thirty odd saloons. The speaker then stated that before the meeting he had visited one of the saloons and found a young man whom he had induced to come to the church. There were in the saloons of our city a large number of young men, and the members of the Christian Association should visit them and labor for their salvation. When the speaker stood on the box in front of the post-office in the afternoon he felt that there was a work to be done in this direction. It was their duty to place the gospel before all men. They could probably by applying to the officers of the Pennsylvania railroad obtain a room for religious services, and then go out in the city with a recruiting company and get men to come in. By using means like this many could be saved. All should be animated with love for the cause of Christ. Sheridan had said of Rowland Hill, "I love to hear Hill preach, because the words come red hot from his lips."

Like the man who when asked his weight said ordinarilly he weighed one hundred and thirty-five or one hundred and forty pounds, but when angry he weighed a ton. These six hundred young men of the Young Men's Christian Association should weigh ten tons when laboring in behalf of Christianity. All should have a spirit like that displayed by Luther, Chalmers and Guthrie, and then when the second anniversary came, and they assembled to celebrate it a glorious record could be presented. The members of the Association in Milwaukee would be ready to join hands with this Association, in carrying the Gospel to the homes where it was needed.

The congregation then sang the hymn commencing:

"A charge to keep I have."

REMARKS OF MR. D. L. MOODY.

President McClintock introduced Mr. D. L. Moody, of Chicago. The gentleman said that he was displeased with that part of the Treasurer's report which says that the Association had only asked for $5,000 for the first year's expenses. The time had come for the young men to make large drafts upon the liberality of the people. What can the six hundred young men belonging to the Association do without means? What could the same number of soldiers do down South towards crushing the rebellion, if they had no arms, ammunition, etc. This Association want the money with which to work for Christ. There were large numbers of young men constantly coming into this city without any residence. Kindred and Christian men and women must take them by the hand, invite them to their homes, and help them forward. The Chicago Young Men's Christian Association had been able to do a good work because the Christian liberality of the people was full and free, and this Pittsburgh association required large means to carry out their objects, God was honored where money is rightly used. Men's blood was not considered too precious to lose when traitors threatened the life of the nation, what was money good for unless to use, and it ought to be used for God's glory. When we were ready to sacrifice everything for Christ, money, property, health, life, then we would find the young men of the country rallying around the standard of the cross. Think of what Jesus Christ had done for the children of men. It was noble to work for him. The martyrs waded through blood, and let Christians in these latter days be ready and willing to do all for Christ that He desires to have done. Who was to do this work if not the young men. God raises up His own workmen and qualifies them and He sends them forth, and He intends that His people shall give cheerfully and liberally to carry on the work. If a man had no money to give he could give his time, talents and opportunities to God. Above everything else, let the people give their hearts to God and He would educate them how to give liberally of their substance. The speaker closed with an earnest and well directed appeal to the audience for pecuniary aid for the Association.

The audience then sang the popular Christian hymn entitled, "We are Waiting by the River."

A LIBERAL COLLECTION.

A collection was then taken up and not including the subscriptions handed in, footed up $1,837 08.

Mr. H. Thane Miller, of Cincinnati, said it was one of the greatest pleasures of his life to attend the Christian Convention that has just closed its labors. It was a great work, too, which the Christian Associations were doing. God has called the young men to a glorious work. The burden of every heart ought to be "Give me souls so that every man can be about the Masters business and the Kingdom of God hastened." He would repeat the order of Grant to his Generals upon a certain memorable occasion "Advance in solid column, early in the morning." Rally around the Young Men's Christian Association, and by prayer and encouragement, and material aid urge the young soldiers onward in the good work. He closed by making a very affecting appeal to the young to give their hearts to God.

Mr. D. L. Moody made some further remarks pertinent to the subject of the personal responsibility of all men to God. He exhorted young men and young women to begin at once to serve God—to cast themselves at the foot of the cross, offer their hearts to the Redeemer and begin the great preparation all must make for the life that is beyond the grave. Mr. Moody closed his brief remarks with a fervent prayer in behalf of the young people of Pittsburgh.

ANOTHER CONVENTION.

The Allegheny County Sunday School Teachers' Convention for to-day and to-morrow in Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, on Penn street, was then announced.

THE ADJOURNMENT.

The audience were then dismissed, after singing, with the benediction by the Rev. S. R. Barintz.

Public Amusements.

THE Opera House was filled last night by a fashionable audience, and "Sam's" eccentricities and "Dick Jenkinsini's" acrobatic performances were highly appreciated. "Sam" will be repeated to-night.

MASONIC HALL.—The celebrated Lubin Brothers, conjurors, will give a series of their entertainments in this city shortly.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Our readers will be pleased to learn that Caroline McCaffrey, the accomplished contralto of Philadelphia, will give two grand concerts in this city next week. A glance at the names of the distinguished artistes who will assist her will satisfy the reader that these will be among the most elegant musical entertainments of the season.

SPLENDID CHANCE TO MAKE A FORTUNE.—The patent which Colonel Beazell advertises in our want column this morning is selling rapidly. From personal knowledge, we are of the opinion there is a fortune in it for any one owning the right of a State, large city or populous county. Mr. Thos. A. Spence, cloak dealer, 73 Market street, who has bought the right for the State of Ohio, in a letter to Colonel Beazell, says: "I have fully examined into the merits of your patent and have consulted leading merchants and bankers in regard to it. They all indorse it as invaluable to every business man. I am satisfied there is a fortune in it in every State for an active business man. I will give you what you ask for the State of Ohio."

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—A laborer by the name of Barney Arrington, met with a painful accident on Wednesday, which may cripple him for life. He was engaged sinking a water pipe on Crawford street, and while using a pick accidentally thrust the point of it into the instep of his right foot to such a depth as to require the united exertions of two men to draw it out. He was taken to his residence on Marbury street, near the Point.

CATARRH CURED.

Testimonial from Hon. M. C. Beebe, of Pleasantville, Pa.

Dr. Aborn, No. 134 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, Pa.:

Dear Sir—Some five years ago my son Willie commenced showing symptoms of catarrh of the head, which continued to grow worse until his system was so debilitated as to preclude an active enjoyment of the sports of childhood or pursue any system of study, or attend at school, and at times was entirely prostrated with lingering fever—some times, for weeks together, with a constant manifestation of the symptoms of the disease, such as a constant hacking, nostril discharges, &c., irritation of the throat, &c., causing nausea. All the usual appliances and treatment of physicians, etc., had failed to afford relief until you were applied to during your professional visit at Titusville last winter, when he began to improve immediately after commencing your treatment, and continued to improve until now he enjoys a good state of health, and is able to participate in the active sports of childhood with zest, as well as pursue his studies without interruption. I have omitted to make this statement heretofore, as I wished to be satisfied that the relief was permanent. M. C. BEEBE.

Auction Sale of Country Dwellings and Building Lots.

On Thursday afternoon next, John Grazier, Esq., will offer for sale at Edgewood Station, Pennsylvania Railroad, two new dwelling houses, and seven valuable building lots, ranging in quantity from one to two acres. One of the houses is admirably suited for a family of moderate size, and is provided with stable and other out-buildings. The lot contains one acre, and is neatly fenced. The house is well finished, and is in every way tidy and comfortable. The other building is large enough for almost any family, is being finished in good style, and will be handsomely papered and painted. It is surrounded by over four acres of ground, the natural beauty of which cannot be excelled anywhere in the neighborhood. The unimproved lots are variously situated, and are all desirable for building purposes. Mr. Grazier owned a large tract of land here, and has disposed of it all excepting that above mentioned, and a plot which he has retained for a residence for himself. Through his enterprise Edgwood has received an impetus which is making it one of the most important and flourishing villages on the line of the road. Any purchases here in the way of lots or buildings will most assuredly pay well as an investment. The situation is a delightful one, just outside the consolidated city, and within half a mile of Wilkinsburg. All the accommodation trains stop at Edgewood, and a fine new station house is to be erected here early in the spring. There are good schools, churches, &c., within easy access, and residents can have all the pleasures and comforts of country life, with daily access to the city for such members of the family as may desire it. Messrs. Smithson, Palmer & Co., the well known auctioneers, will conduct the sales, and give more definite information on the subject in a day or two.

THE DELEGATES TO THE CHRISTIAN CONVENTION now in session in this city will find at Oppenheimer's, No. 83 Wood street, the largest and finest stock of Gents' Furnishing Goods in the city. Remember—Oppenheimer, Fashionable Merchant Tailor, No. 83 Wood street.

Chronic Catarrh.

If we take into account the vast number of persons who, of late years, have labored under the disease which bears the name of catarrh, we are forced to the conclusion that either the persons themselves have been very careless with regard to a malady so general, or that physicians of skill and learning in the art of healing, have regarded it as of little consequence and its cure of minor importance in adding to the happiness of mankind.

Whether this be true or false, one thing is certain, that for the past twenty years, catarrh has increased at a fearful rate, so, that at the present day, it can claim as its victims, in some of its forms, in certain localities, one-tenth of the whole population, and has given employment to hundreds of adventurers, whose sole object seems to have been to delude its victims and enrich themselves. Let us not be misunderstood. We do not mean that all who advertise in the newspapers or write books are to be placed in the category above alluded to, for if we did we ourself would fall under the ban. In truth we must admit one fact, and it is this: that hundreds of physicians of the most upright morals, and with an aim to the happiness of mankind, are most sedulous in their devotion to that noblest of sciences which proposes to itself the amelioration of man's condition and the cure of his infirmities. If our object and intentions point in the direction we have indicated above, we claim to belong to a class of men whose designs are honorable and whose devotions to scientific investigation entitle them to the plaudits of their countrymen, especially those whose misfortune it may be to carry about with them an infirmity which renders life insipid, and thereby abridges their power of usefulness. Let us proceed to examine what catarrh is, and what are its symptoms?

It is said to consist in an inflamed state of the lining membrane of the nose, fauces and bronchia. A necessary condition of this inflamed state of the membrane is an increased excretion of mucous, or starchy phlegm, which exudes in consequence of too great a flow of blood to the part affected.

The humors are driven to the nose. It tries to carry them away, but the burthen is too great for it, and the fine membrane falls into ulcers in consequence of too much work being thrown on to it. Is not this plain common sense? and has it not the reasonable appearance of truth?

What is to be done, you may ask, to remedy this state of things? We answer. Open out the other channels appointed to carry out of the system the effete particles, which go to destroy not only the tissues in which they are lodged, but ultimately the whole human organism. If it is allowed to course along the arteries and deposit itself on the surface of a membrane or the skin, that membrane will become disorganized. It will fall into sores or ulcers, and the whole system will gradually sink in health because of the failure, in a part, to fulfill the duties assigned it in the economy of life.

The symptoms of catarrh vary very materially, in different individuals. So that in some cases, only a part of the symptoms usually ascribed to the disease are observable, according to the particular part involved in the affection.

The prominent symptoms given to the disease by Cullen, are in such complete conformity with our own views and observations, in the experience we have had in the treatment of this malady that we copy them entire.

Difficulty of breathing, with fullness and stoppage of the nostrils.

Increased discharge from the nose and eyes.

Sometimes slight shiverings or chillings; pain and heaviness in the forehead, soreness, hoarseness and roughness of the throat, constriction of the chest as if something were lodged in it.

Pain and heaviness in various parts of the body resembling rheumatism.

Great thirst, lassitude and a feeling of drowsiness.

Impaired appetite, sometimes amounting to nausea.

Cough now sets in and an increased exertion takes place from all the air passages and the organs connected with respiration.

Our treatment of the disease, Catarrh, may be safely gathered from what we have said before; and whilst we are not unwilling to give due credit to Atomization and Inhalation as local agents, for the former of which the credit is mainly due to Dr. Richardson, of London, (Medical Times and Gazette, April 28, 1866,) and the latter of which has been extensively issued in this country, and most thoroughly by Dr. Hunter, we at the same time cannot fail to observe that the constitutional means to be used to destroy the aptitude to the disease, and place the constitution in a healthy condition, can in no case be lost sight of, without manifest injury to the patient.—Dr. Keyser on Human Health.

Systems Run Down.

Persons often allow their systems to "run down," or rather run them down by over work, accompanied by a neglect of the proper means of invigoration. The result is what is called "GENERAL DEBILITY;" in other words, a failure and partial collapse of the physical forces, accompanied usually by great depression of spirits.

The best remedy in such cases is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Whether the state of exhaustion has been brought on by excessive physical labor, dissipation, anxiety of mind, exposure, or any other cause, the remedial effect of this great stomachic will be found equally prompt and certain. As a restorative, after severe sickness has prostrated the bodily and mental energies, it is pronounced by competent medical authorities, "THE BEST TONIC IN USE." If men were not foolishly careless about their health, and over confident in themselves, they would always, when engaged in any work that required great exertion, use corresponding means of sustaining their strength. For this purpose HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are invaluable. All toilers should use them as an invigorant.

For those constantly employed in in-door occupations, especially in crowded workshops, they may be reckoned as the very best safeguard of health. Where there is a predisposition to constipation, or a tendency to biliousness, they may be truly said to be a specific for which there is no substitute.

MARRIED:

HURST—GREER—At the bride's residence, Wednesday, October 23d, 1867, by Rev. J. S. Bracken, Mr. A. C. HURST, of Bridgewater, Pa., and Miss MOLLIE O. GREER, of Rochester, Pa. No cards.

DIED:

FINANCE AND TRADE.

THURSDAY EVENING, October 24, 1867.

There is an active demand for money, but still met by an inadequate supply, which keeps the market close and rates very high. All the money which capitalists have unemployed can be put at rates that should satisfy the most exacting. The eagerness to borrow has the effect in many cases to intimidate the lender, who becomes doubtful of the future ability of the borrower to return the money at maturity. The open market is well pressed for loans, and good names are put at from 12 to 18 per cent.

—Governments to-day exhibit no changes, except perhaps there is a little more firmness shown. The quotations received by Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co., and James T. Brady & Co., are about the same as yesterday.

—As to the railway share market, the Herald of yesterday says it has been alternately strong and weak, and, on the whole, unsettled, notwithstanding the fact that money was in more abundant supply than yesterday, loans having been made freely to stock houses at seven per cent. on call. The bull cliques are manipulating to get out of their stocks, and the street is unwilling to take them, so that whenever cliques sell largely prices fall. The bearish feeling is growing among the brokers and professional speculators, and the market lacks outside support. Money is very stringent outside of Wall street, although it is comparatively easy in it, and trade is unusually depressed for the season, particularly in the department of dry goods, where foreign manufactures are selling for little more than the cost of freight and duty. and importers are consequently postponing remittances to pay for them. This condition of affairs is antagonistic to high prices for railway stocks of extremely uncertain value, like Erie, and Chicago and Northwestern, especially while government securities paying six per cent. interest in gold are unusually cheap, and selling considerably below their real value. The bull cliques may be strong, but there must be buyers to take these fancy railway shares out of the hands of the cliques in order to sustain the market for a long time together. Without this extraneous support the cliques would soon become powerless, and the circumstance of the street being already more bearish than bullish is not in their favor.

—The money market at Chicago is thus reported by the Tribune of that city: The demand for money was quite active to-day, mostly on grain account, and in many quarters the market was quite stringent. The shipments of produce are running very light at the present time, as shippers are holding off until the up-fleet—daily expected—when it is supposed there will be a decline in freights. In the meantime the banks are obliged to carry the large receipts of grain daily going into store, which for the moment causes an active demand for money. So pressing was the demand to-day that several call loans for large amounts were called in by some banks which were short of currency. There is no currency coming here from the East, but some remittances are expected from Cincinnati and St. Louis to-morrow. Paper is severely examined at the discount houses, and accommodations are granted exclusively to depositors in the best of standing. Many good names are forced to seek the open market, where they are done at 12@18 per cent., but less desirable signatures cannot be sold for less than 24@30 per cent.

—At Cincinnati the market is reported as very stringent, with a demand for loans from depositors fully up to the ability of bankers to supply, besides pressing obligations from outside parties, which are necessarily refused. Further drafts from the Government on the depositories here were honored to-day, and all things conspire to keep down the supply of currency. Only such parties as are entitled, by their peculiar relations to the banks, to favors, are able to obtain money under 10 per cent., while in the open market good paper is plenty at 12 per cent. Higher rates are charged in some cases, but they are exceptional. Other than first-class paper is not wanted.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, FRIDAY, October 25, 1867.

BUSINESS—In regard to oil transactions we have nothing special to notice. During the forenoon there were reports from Antwerp that oil had advanced to 58 francs. This news, however, was not reliable; it was simply a speculative dodge. Our dispatches from headquarters were as follows: Oil City—Buyers were excited; prices were nominal. New York—Prime light straw to white 35c; standard white to 34c; crude 20c. Philadelphia—Prime light straw to white 34c; standard white 33c; crude 21c. In regard to prices we note the following transactions, viz: 200 bbls 13c; sales 55 do Smith's Ferry 13c; sales 1,000 bbls Allegheny crude, December, 11c; sales 1,000 bbls do, January, 1868, at 11c; 1,000 bbls do. February, 11c; sales of 42 bbls, 40 gravity, at 22c, including bbls; sales 324 bbls, delivered at works, 13c, and 200 bbls do on the same terms and conditions.

REFINED OIL—We have nothing new to note. The only sales that came under our notice were as follows: 2,000 bbls S. W., Philadelphia delivery, December, January, February and March, 33c; sales 500 bbls do S. W., Philadelphia, last half November, 33c.

PHILADELPHIA.

Prices are rather firmer; 2,000 bbls crude sold at 21@21½c, and 20,000 bbls of refined in bond at 33½c for prime light straw to white; 34½@35½c for standard white, the latter rate for November delivery. Free oil sells in small lots at 45@50c ⅌ gallon.

NEW YORK.

Crude has been in smaller request, says the Shipping List of Wednesday, and the market is a trifle lower; we quote at the close 13½@14c in bulk, and about 20c in shipping order; the sales are 1,800 bbls in bulk at 14@14½c; 350 do. 15½c, packages returned, and 15½c, delivered to packages; 1,100 do in shipping order, 20c, and 1,000 do in bulk, November delivery, 14½c. Refined in bond opened dull and heavy on Saturday, but on Monday and yesterday there was a little more inquiry, and holders generally demanded 34c for S W, at which price the market closed firm: sales 250 bbls L S to W and P L S to W at 30½c for the former and 31½c for the latter; 10,000 do S W at 33½@34c; 500 do P W, on private terms; 2,500 do S W, for the balance of the month, 33@34c, and 5,000 do November, 34½@35c, buyers' option. Of free, 125 bbls P L S to W sold at 49c. Naptha is in demand for export, and sales have been made of 2,000 bbls, in bond, at 20c, sellers' option, November 1.

Oil City Oil Market.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

OIL CITY, October 24, 1867.

The market for crude is somewhat excited to-day, with prices a little advanced. We quote Oil City at $3 50@3 60, and on creek at $3 20@3 30 on cars, closing a little weaker. L.

IRON.

NEW YORK.

Scotch pig remains very quiet, says the Commercial List of Wednesday last, the demand being light, and the tendency of prices is to favor buyers; we only notice 50 tons Eglinton at $40 50, ex-ship. American is in moderate supply, and though the demand is small, the market is steady at previous prices; 50 tons No. 1 ex-Thomas sold at $45 00; and 100 do No. 1 Poughkeepsie, new make, on terms we did not learn. Of other kinds, we notice 100 tons old English rails at $47 50; 530 do No. 1 wrought scrap, and 100 do old car wheels, on terms we did not learn. Bar remains very quiet, but prices are sustained.

PHILADELPHIA.

Foundry iron is in fair demand; sales of No 1 at $44 00; No. 2 at $40 00@42 00, and $33 00@38 00 for forge. Scotch pig is quoted at $43 00@44 00 ⅌ ton. Manufactured iron is firmly held.

Provisions in Chicago.

The Tribune of Wednesday reports the provision market again at a stand still. Mess pork was freely offered at $21 spot and for future, with sales of 200 bbls at that figure—part last evening and the balance this morning. Bulk meats were entirely neglected. There is some skirmishing for English meats for forward delivery here and in New York, but within the past few days, none of the packers have shown any disposition to make contracts. No figures are named, though 10c for Cumberland here is looked upon as being about the market. Lard was held at 13c for choice brands, with some inquiry at 12½c, at which 350 tcs changed hands. Tallow was steady, with sales at 11¼c for city packers', and 10½@10¾c for country.

Coffee at Baltimore.

The market is very dull indeed. There are no sales making, nor so far as we can learn is there any demand. Messrs. Small & Co., coffee brokers, in their Circular, of the 21st inst., quotes Rio at 9@12¼c gold in bond, for fair to prime cargoes, and duty paid at 12½@13½c for ordinary; 14½@15½c for fair; 15½@18½c for good; 17½@18c for prime, and they put down the stock here at 14,565 bags, and in the United States at 101,000.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, Oct. 24, 1867.

CATTLE—There was a large falling off in the supply of Cattle during the week. Notwithstanding this fact prices gave way, and lower figures ruled the market. Eastern buyers were not on hand. The demand was restricted altogether to lots to meet the wants of retailers. Another feature was, the offerings as a general thing were of an inferior description, and did not attract the same attention as No. 1 Cattle would have done. The principal purchasers were city butchers. The offerings in many instances did not come up to their standard. Stock sales were limited, dealers exhibiting a good deal of caution in making their purchases, so that in order to effect sales holders were under the necessity of making concessions. The nominal rates were for good fat cattle, $7 00@7 50. The amount sold at the latter figure comprise one lot. Sales of good Cattle at $5 50@6 00. Stockers ranged from $4 00@4 50@6 00 ⅌ cwt. as ⅌ quality and condition. The sales this week show a falling off amounting to 449 head. The operations for the past three weeks were as follows:

October 10	775	$2 50@7 75
October 17	1,141	3 50@7 50
October 24	695	2 50@7 50

HOGS—The market was dull, with a slight decline in prices, ranging from 25@75c ⅌ cwt. The weather being warm had considerable to do in producing the decline. The operations for the past three weeks were as follows:

October 10	210	$6 00@8 25
October 17	348	6 50@8 25
October 24	359	5 75@8 00

SHEEP AND LAMBS—The market ruled dull, with a very light demand; the supply being largely in excess of the demand, made a hard market for sellers. At the close of the market a large number remained unsold. Butchers bought very sparingly. The pork season is rapidly approaching—a few days of cold weather will improve the hog market, whilst sheep will be almost forgotten.

The following lots were disposed of:

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY EVENING, October 24, 1867.

Our general markets opened to-day with but little change or animation reported than those noted for some time past. Trade rules very dull in every branch of business. The low stage of the Ohio and the Allegheny rivers accounts to a considerable extent for the dullness of trade now exhibited. The extreme tightness in the money market also tends to restrict trade, and we cannot anticipate any decided or permanent improvement until the financial skies wear a less gloomy and deviating appearance. The grain market continues steady without material alteration in prices. Provisions continue quiet with quite limited transactions. In groceries there was more doing at last quotations. Flour is less active.

The receipts of some of the leading articles of produce per river and rail, since our last, were as follows: Flour 401 bbls; apples 875 bbls; corn 1,421 sacks; wheat 615 sacks; barley 686 sacks; rye 76 sacks: oats 965 sacks, and butter 23 packages.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale store prices, unless otherwise noted:

APPLES—Receipts large but prices have not changed materially, varying from $2 50@5 ⅌ barrel, as to quality.

It is reported that Wm. Vanderbilt, Aug. Schell, and J. H. Bunker are to go in the Erie direction to take the place of Fisk, Gould and Lane.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, October 24.—The dry goods market continues panicky, but is more active on calicoes and all goods that have been reduced to actual cost price. Sprague's prints have been reduced to-day by agents 1c a yard, namely, to 13c, discount off, and before 12 o'clock one house sold 200 cases at one shilling. Pacific delaines were reduced to 17c by Stewart & Co. Prices on delaines are not fixed by agents. The actual cost of all delaines at the mills, without paying any profits, is 20c. The mills have consequently come to a stand. Corset jeans at 18c for Naumkeag satens, and 13½c for steam; Laconia 13½c; Bates 11@12c for finer grades. Brown and bleached cottons are also a little depressed: Reynolds AA, bleached, are selling by the case at 11½c, and by the piece at 12c, and Dedham, bleached at 13½c. The Great Falls goods are 1c lower on all makes.

Albany Cattle Market.

ALBANY, October 24.—Beeves dull and ½ to ¾c lower; sales 1,500 at 5@8¼c. Receipts 4,200. Sheep heavy; sales 3,000 at 3½@6c. Receipts 9,600. Lambs heavy at 5½@6¼c. Hogs dull; sales 5,000 at 6½@8½c. Receipts 1,600. Dressed hogs at 10c.

New Orleans Market.

NEW ORLEANS, October 24.—Cotton—Prices stiffer: sales 1,300 bales low middling at 17½@18c. Receipts 1,714 bales. Exports 301 bales.

RIVER TELEGRAMS.

Memphis.

MEMPHIS, October 24.—The weather is cool. The river is falling slowly.

Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, October 24.—The river is rising with fully twenty-six inches in the channel by the mark.

RIVER NEWS.

THE Dan Able is laid up at Vicksburg on account of low water.

THE new steamer Bismarck, now building at St. Louis, will be ready to load in about four weeks. This steamer is an immense concern.

MOBILE.—The Times of Friday says:

On dit, that our fellow-citizen, formerly in charge and one of the owners of the Magnolia, Capt. Mike, is building a new boat at New Albany for the lightering business in the bay, which is said to combine many improvements over the tugs now here; one very remarkable peculiarity of this craft being that she draws less water and runs faster the deeper she is laden. This is certainly a great step in the science of boat-building, and will, most undoubtedly, make the fortune of the lucky builders.

For the benefit of parties interested we copy the following from the Cincinnati Gazette:

The copy of the following card is ready to be placed in the hands of the printer:

HARRY ROSE. STANT J. BATCHELOR.
ROSE & BATCHELOR.
General Steamboat Agents, Commission and Forwarding Merchants.
Also, Agents for Vicksburg and Meridian and Meridian and Selma Railroads,
No. 8 West Front street, Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI—Wednesday's Enquirer on the situation: The weather was cloudy, and a drizzling rain fell during the forenoon. It turned uncomfortably cool in the afternoon.

The river was stationary yesterday, with three feet four inches in the channel by the water-works marks. No change to note in the condition of the river. The officers of the Mary Erwin report twenty-four inches on Quick's Run, about the worst point to Big Sandy. Twenty-eight to thirty inches are reported to Louisville. Warsaw is very bad. The bottom is hard and stony, and if a boat gets aground she is apt to stick fast.

ST. LOUIS, October 22.—The steamer Richmond was sold by the Marshal yesterday for $7,050. She is one year old, and cost $25,000. She was bought by one of her creditors, Mr. Morse, grocer.

The Ben. Johnson has been raised, and will be brought down the Missouri for repairs.

A. G. Cunningham, late Treasurer of the Atlantic Steamship Company, is building a boat for the mountain trade.

All the upper rivers are still on the decline, and the channels are in a bad state for navigation, and business is consequently dull, and the prospects unimproved. Owing to the difficulty of navigation on the Missouri, freight for St. Louis has largely accumulated on that stream, and boats recently arrived were compelled to refuse more than would have loaded them.

NEW ORLEANS—The Crescent, of Saturday, says: The weather yesterday on the levee was agreeable—a little too warm to be comfortable—but it was dry and clear. But it is evident we will have a change before many days, for we reasonably expect cool weather in the latter part of November.

With the exception of the discharging of the steamer Louisiana, that arrived this morning from a somewhat lengthy trip from St. Louis, there was but little doing on the levee. The Fannie Gilbert, however, was receiving a pretty good freight, and will leave positively this evening for Red River.

The arrivals since our last are as follows: The Cottle, from lower coast; the Lafourche, from Bayou Sara; the Louisiana, from St. Louis; the Magenta, from Vicksburg.

The departures yesterday were as follows: The Alec, for lower coast; the Julia and Louisiana, for St. Louis.
